SELECT is the trade association for the electrical contracting Industry in Scotland. Founded in 1900 as the Electrical Contractors' Association of Scotland, it was the first trade association in the world to serve the electrical Industry. Today, it is Scotland's largest construction trade association and one of the oldest to represent the 'modern' trades.

SELECT has around 1,260 Member businesses, each working to stringent membership criteria and accredited to one or more of ten technical disciplines. These companies have a collective turnover of around £1 billion and provide employment for 15,000 people and 3,500 apprentices.

SELECT services

SELECT offers a wealth of benefits and services to its Members, giving them the tools they need to grow and prosper, wherever they are on their career path. These include:

- Technical support
- Employment and industrial relations advice
- Health and safety information
- Training and skills
- Welfare benefits
- Pensions
- Legal support.

SELECT structure

SELECT is governed by a Central Board, which comprises elected representatives from each of its eight branches:

- Aberdeen & North East of Scotland
- Ayrshire
- Dumfries & Galloway
- Edinburgh & South East of Scotland
- Glasgow & West of Scotland
- Inverness & North of Scotland
- Lanarkshire
- Tayside.

The Central Board also includes the Presidential Team – President, Vice President and Immediate Past President – and senior SELECT staff, who are headed by the Managing Director.

There is also a standing committee covering each of the main areas of operational activity. Regular meetings are held in each branch area. These provide a link between Members through their representatives and the Central Board and the SELECT secretariat, who are represented at each event.

UNITE THE UNION

Unite the Union was formed on 1 May 2007 following a merger of Amicus and the Transport and General Workers' Union (T&G).

In 2016, members of the United Construction and Allied Trade Technicians (UCATT) voted to merge with Unite, creating the largest trade union in the UK and Ireland with members across the private, public and voluntary sectors including manufacturing, public services, transport, food, finance and construction.

Unite is the union for the 21st century, meeting the greatest challenges facing working people today. It is a democratic and campaigning union which fights back for employees in the workplace, protects workers' rights and delivers trade unionism to millions of unorganised workers.

The union stands up for equality and advances members' interests on a political and national level. It is also active on a global scale, building ever stronger links with trade unions around the world to confront the challenges of our globalised economy.

In addition, Unite is dedicated to serving the best interests of its members, protecting workers' rights and equality and diversity in the workplace by negotiating with employers and government. As a primarily industry-based union, its structure means it can effectively represent its members' interests and welfare rights in the workplace, no matter where or which sector they work in. It also works to enforce adequate health and safety at work and ensure equal pay for all.

In Scotland, Unite has a wide network of district offices in Aberdeen, Ayr, Dundee, Edinburgh and Inverness, plus a regional office in Glasgow.

Members of Unite are entitled to a large range of legal and member services, including help with personal injury claims, employment rights matters, wills, conveyancing and many other issues in and out of the workplace.

Tool List	66

B1. Bargaining Rights

- B1.1 The Parties to these National Working Rules have agreed that Unite the Union shall have sole bargaining rights in respect of all employees at all levels employed under the terms of these Rules and the Collective Agreement/s from which they emanate.
- B1.2 Any unqualified reference to a Trade Union within these rules refers to the Union and any unqualified reference to a Shop Steward or Trade Union Representative refers only to accredited Shop Stewards and Representatives of that Union.
- B1.3 The word unqualified has been added to cover references to Shop Stewards/ Officers of other Unions in the text covering representation in an unofficial capacity by officers of other Unions under the terms of the Disputes, Grievance and Unfair Dismissals Procedures.
- B1.4 The word representation has been deleted to avoid misunderstandings in the above context.

B2. Equality of Application

- B2.1 It is the intention of the Parties to the Collective Agreements, of which the following Rules form a part, that there shall be, in the application of those Rules, no discrimination on the grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.
- B2.2 The SJIB believes that employers should be committed to supporting, developing and promoting diversity and equality in all employment practices and activities.

Note: For the avoidance of doubt the terms employer, employee, Operative, Technician, Approved Electrician, Electrician, Electrical Labourer, Trainee, Probationer, Apprentice and Adult Trainee used in these Rules are intended to apply equally and without distinction to both men and women.

B3. Blacklisting

- B3.1 One of the principal objects of the SJIB is to further the progress of the Industry for the mutual advantage of employers and employees. To help achieve this, the SJIB has adopted a set of shared values which apply across the Industry, ensuring the co-operation of all who work under the SJIB terms and conditions. These values embrace integrity, respect, equality and fairness. Their application ensures that employer and employee workplace relationships are open, honest and transparent.
- B3.2 Consequently, the SJIB considers the use of blacklists in employment practices by any of its members as a clear breach of these shared values which undermines the work undertaken by the SJIB. The use of blacklists contravenes much of the legislation which underpins the employment relationship.

B4. Dispensation

- B4.1 Members are reminded that all electrical and instrumentation work must be carried out within the terms of the SJIB National Working Rules. Permission to operate in a manner different from that contained within the National Working Rules must be sought and dispensation granted before any member deviates from the Rules (please refer to Section C14).
- B4.2 Furthermore, members are advised to satisfy themselves at the enquiry stage whether work will be done in accordance with the SJIB conditions or otherwise.

B5. The Working Time Regulations 1998 (as amended)

- B5.1 The Working Time Regulations 1998 allow certain exclusions from their application, known as derogations, which can be effected through a collective agreement. The SJIB National Working Rules is such a collective agreement and the Signatory Parties have agreed to incorporate, to their full extent, all possible derogations in order to preserve current working.

- B5.2 For the application of SJIB National Working Rules B10, B12, B20.1, B21, B25.1(b), B25.1(c), B25.1(d), B28 and B29 in accordance with regulation 23 of The Working Time Regulations 1998, for Operatives whose contract of employment is based on these National Working Rules, the application of regulations:
- 6(1), 6(2), 6(3) and 6(7) (limit on night work hours and period over which night work hours are averaged);
 - 10(1) (daily rest periods for adults);
 - 11(1) and (12) (weekly rest periods for adults); and
 - 12(1) (rest break for adults);

are hereby excluded and those regulations do not apply. Also, it is recognised that the nature of work in the electrical contracting Industry is such that for organisational, objective and technical reasons, the reference period over which weekly working hours are to be averaged for the purpose of regulations 4(3) is to be 52 weeks, and this is the reference period that will apply for the purpose of regulations 6(3)(a), (i.e. the period over which night work hours are averaged).

Note: The Working Time Regulations 1998 require an employer to ensure that the Operative will have the opportunity of a free health assessment before they take up night work, or the Operative had a valid health assessment, and shall ensure that a night worker has the opportunity of a free health assessment at appropriate regular intervals.

B6. Jurisdiction

- B6.1 The spirit and intent of the National Working Rules recognises the necessity for local and geographically-based variations. Such variations are recognised in the following where the words SJIB will be deemed to cover the Scottish Agreement and JIB the Agreement covering England and Northern Ireland, and any reference to Wales is for information and assistance only. www.jib.org.uk

B7. Grading

- B7.1 Graded Operatives shall comply in all respects with the Grading Definitions (Section K) as determined by the SJIB when carrying out the work of the Industry, erecting their own mobile scaffolds and using such power-operated and other tools, plant, etc as may be provided by their employer, and the standard Graded Rates of Wages shall be paid. Grading shall only be valid if the grade has been formally issued by the SJIB.

- B7.2 Nothing in these Rules shall prevent the maximum flexibility in the employment of Operatives.

B8. Wages

- B8.1 The National Graded Rates of Wages shall be those from time to time determined by the SJIB. Current rates are available in Appendix B1 and www.sjib.org.uk
- B8.2 The SJIB Rates of Wages appropriate to Operatives, Apprentices and Adult Trainees shall be such rates for their grades as the SJIB may from time to time determine to be appropriate for their grade in the place where they are working. To qualify for the SJIB rates, Operatives will be required to satisfy their employer that they have an adequate knowledge of the appropriate regulations currently in force as required by the SJIB Grading Definitions. Where required, the SJIB will ask graded Operatives to produce satisfactory evidence that they have a knowledge of the relevant regulations and, in particular BS 7671, the current Edition of the IET Wiring Regulations.

B9. Payment of Wages

- B9.1 Wages shall normally be paid by Credit Transfer. Alternatively, another method of payment may be adopted by mutual arrangement between employer and Operative.
- B9.2 Wages shall be calculated for weekly periods and paid within five normal working days of the end of the relevant pay week unless alternative arrangements are agreed.
- B9.3 Each Operative shall receive an itemised written pay statement in accordance with the Employment Rights Act 1996 Section 8.

B10. Standard Working Hours

- B10.1 The standard working week shall be 37.5 hours worked on five days, Monday to Friday inclusive. The normal working day shall not be more than eight hours worked in any consecutive 12 hours between 7.00 a.m. and 7.00 p.m.

- B10.2 Permission for absence or lateness should be sought in advance from the employer if an individual has domestic, personal or other reasons. If this is not possible they should phone their employer informing them of the absence before noon, or mid-shift for shift workers. Verbal messages delivered by workmates, relatives or other persons may be accepted by employers at their discretion.
- B10.3 In order to comply with Industry derogation under the Working Time Regulations, Operatives are only permitted to work a maximum of 48 hours per week averaged over a 52-week period. However, Operatives who wish to opt out of this regulation may do so by signing an opt-out agreement. A sample opt-out agreement is shown in Appendix B2.
- B10.4 The employer shall declare the working days and hours (including breaks) on each job. Where shifts are required which fall outside these limits, payment and conditions of work shall be approved by the SJIB.

B11. Tea and Meal Breaks

- B11.1 Where the working day is longer than six hours, Operatives are entitled to a break.
- B11.2 Tea breaks shall be paid and mutually agreed between employers and Operatives.
- B11.3 Meal breaks including washing time shall be unpaid, and shall be of one-hour duration, or less, at the employer's discretion.
- B11.4 Once agreed, the time permitted for tea/meal breaks shall not be exceeded.

B12. Utilisation of Working Hours

- B12.1 There shall be full utilisation of working hours which shall not be subject to unauthorised breaks.
- B12.2 Employers and Operatives, with the involvement of the Union Regional Officer, may agree on any job arrangements for the maximum utilisation of working hours; a bonus payment or payments related to progress of the work and productivity levels, or any other related matters, in addition to the normal hourly rates of pay.

- B12.3 Poor time-keeping and/or unauthorised absences from the place of work during working hours shall be construed as misconduct.

B13. Absences for Medical Reasons

- B13.1 Any Operative who is absent for medical reasons must submit either a Statement of Fitness for Work or, for the first seven days of absence, a Self Certification form. Where such absences occur on three or more occasions in any period of 12 weeks commencing with the first day of the first period of absence, the Operative may be given a formal warning (within one week of the ending of the third period of sickness absence). In the event of any further period of absence due to illness occurring within 12 weeks of the date of the warning letter, the Operative will be required to provide to their employer a Statement of Fitness for Work to cover that period of absence (see also Section G5.4).
- B13.2 Employers will, notwithstanding production of such certificates, have the right, upon there being an absence due to illness following the formal warning letter, to require the Operative concerned to be medically examined by either a doctor commissioned by the employer or by the Operative's own medical adviser, with a report being sent to the employer. In the latter case, the terms of the Access to Medical Reports Act 1988 will apply (see Appendix B3).
- B13.3 Any cost incurred by such examinations will be borne by the employer.
- B13.4 None of the foregoing precludes individual companies instituting their own arrangements, providing those arrangements are within the parameters of this rule. For persistent problems with absence refer to Section G5.5.

B14. Bereavement Leave

- B14.1 Employers will give sympathetic consideration to requests from Operatives for bereavement leave in the event of the death of a close relative (e.g. spouse, partner, children, parents, brother, sister or any other nominated beneficiary). When such bereavement leave is granted, employers will pay the Operative concerned for up to three normal working days at their basic hourly rate.

- B14.2 Additionally, in the case that an Operative's child, aged under 18 or stillborn after 24 weeks of pregnancy, passes away they will be entitled to Statutory Parental Bereavement Leave of up to two weeks. The Operative may also be eligible for Statutory Parental Bereavement Pay during their period of leave.

B15. Place of Employment

- B15.1 All Operatives, with the exception of locally engaged labour, shall be taken into employment at the employer's established place of business, that is to say a principal or branch office, either of which shall be defined as the shop. Shop recruited Operatives are liable to be transferred to work on any site on which the employer has a contract. An Operative's place of employment shall therefore be defined within their Written Statement of Employment (see Section C – Appendix C1).

B16. Shop Based Operatives – Shop Rate

- B16.1 Operatives who are required to book on and off at the employer's shop shall be paid Shop Rate. These Operatives shall be entitled to time from booking on until booking off, with overtime if the time so booked exceeds the normal working day. They shall also be entitled, if transport is not provided free of charge, to Mileage Allowance as shown in Appendix B1.
- B16.2 An Operative, by agreement with an employer, may use their own car for business use. In this instance the Operative shall have appropriate insurance cover. Mileage Allowance shall be payable as shown in Appendix B1.

B17. Operatives Who Travel Daily – Travel Rate

- B17.1 Operatives who are required to start and finish at the normal starting and finishing times on the job shall be paid Travel Rate. On jobs lasting more than one day, the Operative shall travel the first day and return the last day in their employer's time. On intervening days, they shall travel both ways in their own time.
- B17.2 An Operative travelling daily and working away from the shop shall receive either a Mileage Allowance or Mileage Rate, as shown in Appendix B1.

B18. Mileage Allowance and Mileage Rate

- B18.1 Operatives, Adult Trainees and Apprentices who are required to start and finish at the normal starting and finishing time on jobs more than 15 miles from the shop to the job shall receive either a:

 - (b) Taxable Mileage Rate where transport has been provided.
- B18.2 Payment for the Mileage Allowance and Mileage Rate are as per the table shown in Appendix B1.
- B18.3 The calculation of the actual distance between the shop and the job will be by way of the fastest route on the RAC Route Planner. The Mileage Allowance and Mileage Rate are paid for the full return journey.
- B18.4 An Operative who considers that the transport provided by their employer is unsuitable may pursue a complaint through the grievance procedure (see Section G – Resolving Issues at Work).

B19. Overtime

- B19.1 Overtime working by Operatives may from time to time be required by the employer to meet the requirements of the job and such a requirement will not be unreasonably withheld by Operatives.

B20. Overtime Rates

- B20.1 Overtime rates Monday to Friday shall not apply until an Operative has worked the currently determined hours (37.5 hours) at normal rates in any one week. Additional time worked Monday to Friday after the currently determined hours shall be paid at time and a half.
- B20.2 Weekend overtime premium shall be calculated on all hours worked as shown in Rules B20.4 and B20.5.

- B20.3 Subject to the exceptions in Rule B20.6 (a – c inclusive), an Operative who has not worked five days from Monday to Friday as provided in Rule B10.1 may be precluded from working the following Saturday or Sunday.

 - (c) was on an authorised rest period on a day following continuous working through the previous night.

B21. Rest Periods Following Extended Overtime

- B21.1 An Operative who has worked their normal day work hours and continues to work overtime beyond midnight shall take a minimum break away from work of 7.5 hours.
- B21.2 Allowances shall be made for the time taken over and above the break time of 7.5 hours. Time spent on travel applicable to the relevant job shall not be taken into account when calculating the 7.5 hours minimum break.
- B21.3 If the next day is a normal working day, and the break extends into the normal working hours of that day, the Operative shall receive payment at the appropriate standard rate for the normal working hours lost.

Note: The normal working week excludes Saturday and Sunday.

B22. Calculation of Overtime Including Rest Periods

- B22.1 The hours of a rest period which extend into a normal working day shall be taken into account when calculating overtime in the relevant worked week.

B23. Responsibility Payments

- B23.1 Approved Electricians in charge of work who undertake the supervision of other Operatives shall be paid responsibility money, details of which are available from www.sjib.org.uk The supervision of Apprentices or other Trainees does not attract responsibility money.
- B23.2 Responsibility payments shall be enhanced by overtime and shift premia where appropriate.

B24. Productivity and Incentive Schemes

- B24.1 Employers and Operatives, with the involvement of the Union Regional Officer, may agree on any job arrangements for the maximum utilisation of working hours. This may include a bonus payment or payments related to progress of the work and productivity levels or any related matters in addition to the normal hourly rates of pay.

B25. Shift Work

- B25.1 Operatives may be required to undertake shift-working arrangements (as detailed below) in order to meet the requirements of the job or client. Operatives may not be so required without reasonable notice.
- (a) Night Shift
- (i) Night shift will be constituted where Operatives work throughout the night for at least three consecutive nights (see Appendix B4 for Health Assessment form for Night Shift Workers).
 - (ii) Night shift will normally consist of 37.5 hours worked on five nights Monday night to Friday night inclusive, with unpaid meal breaks for meals each night to be mutually arranged. The employer shall declare working hours including meal breaks in each contract.
 - (iii) Night shift shall be paid at the rate of time and one third for all hours worked up to 37.5 hours in any one week, Monday to Friday.

- (b) Double Day Shift

- (c) Three Shift Working
- (i) The shift week will be from Monday to Friday. Each shift shall be of 7.5 hours' duration with an unpaid half-hour meal break. The distribution of the hours will be subject to local requirements. Shifts will normally be on early, late and night shift basis.
 - (ii) Three shift working will be paid at the rate of time plus 20%, time plus 30% and time plus 33% for the early, late and night shifts respectively.
- (d) Continuous Shift Working (Over a Seven-Day Period)
- (i) Occasional – Where shift work is occasionally required to cover both weekdays and weekend, weekend working shall attract the appropriate premia contained in Rules B20.4 and B20.5. Weekday working shall attract the premia contained in Rule B25.1(c). Generally speaking, occasional shift work shall be defined as a shift work requirement for a period of four weeks or less to meet some short-term or emergency need.
 - (ii) Rostered – Where continuous three shift working is required to cover a regular seven-day working pattern, the following conditions shall be observed:
 - (i) Prior to the introduction of a rostered three shift working system, the employer will discuss and agree with their Operatives' representatives the most suitable pattern of hours to achieve the required cover.
 - (ii) Subject to the above, rostered three shift working shall not be restricted.
 - (iii) The normal shift week shall be from Monday to Sunday and will comprise a maximum 37.5 hours in any one week for which the Operatives shall be paid at time plus 30%.
 - (iv) All hours rostered or un-rostered in excess of 37.5 hours in any week, Monday to Sunday, shall fall within the terms of Rule B25.1(e), (f) and (g).

B26. Transfer from Day to Night or Night to Day Shifts

- B26.1 When night shift Operatives at termination of night shift, having worked after midnight, go on to day shift on the morning of that same day, the hours worked during that day shall be paid at the appropriate overtime rates. Similarly, where a day Operative having worked after midday goes on to a night shift that same night, the worked hours of that first night shift shall be paid at the appropriate overtime rates.

B27. Reasonable Notice

- B27.1 Operatives will be given reasonable notice by their employer when they are required to undertake shift working arrangements.

B28. Flexible Working

- B28.1 Because of the very wide range of work activities covered by this agreement, in certain situations in the interests of efficiency and productivity, a flexible working pattern may be appropriate. Therefore, by mutual agreement between the employer and the Operative and vetting by a Union Regional Officer, the following rule may apply. Any flexible working patterns must not be introduced to circumvent any existing overtime provisions.
- B28.2 An Operative who agrees to work a flexible working pattern (i.e. to work any five days out of seven) shall:
- (a) be paid their graded rate plus a premium of 15% for working the agreed pattern of work in each week;
 - (b) receive the appropriate overtime premium calculated on the basic graded pay rate after working 37.5 hours in any week on the agreed pattern of work;

- (c) be paid time and a half at the basic graded rate of pay for the first six hours worked on the first agreed rest day of each week. Thereafter, at the rate of double time for the remainder of any rest day or part thereof worked in that week;
- (d) not receive overtime premium for any Saturday or Sunday included in the agreed working pattern;
- (e) forfeit the 15% premium for any week in which there is a failure, without an acceptable reason, to report for duty on any Saturday or Sunday which is included in the agreed pattern of work. Examples of acceptable reasons are when the Operative:
 - (i) has lost time through self-certified or illness covered with a Statement of Fitness for Work;
 - (ii) was on a rest period for the day following continuous working all the previous night;
 - (iii) was absent with their employer's permission, e.g. holiday or authorised leave.
- (f) In the event of Operatives undertaking a flexible working schedule being called out, Rules B29.1 and B29.2 will apply with the two agreed rest days in the seven-day working cycle being treated as Saturday and Sunday.

B29. Call-Out

- B29.1 For emergency call-outs when an Operative, having returned home after their normal finishing time, is called upon to return to work before their next normal starting time, they shall be paid at time and a half for all hours worked home to home. Between 3.00 p.m. on Saturday and the normal starting time on Monday, the appropriate rate paid shall be double time.
- B29.2 In addition, they shall be paid Call-Out Allowances, details of which are available from Appendix B1 and on www.sjib.org.uk The first call-out in any rest period shall be paid at the higher 1st Call-Out Allowance. In the event that an Operative, having returned home after a Call-Out, is called out again a further Subsequent Call-Out Allowance shall be paid in respect of this second call-out and at the same rates for each subsequent call-out prior to the next normal starting time.

B30. Operatives Who Lodge

- B30.1 Operatives who are required by their employer to work away from their normal work location, where daily travel from their home to this new temporary location would be onerous, shall be entitled to lodge.
- B30.2 The employer shall determine when the Operatives are required to lodge. However, employers shall not unreasonably refuse Operatives lodgings.
- B30.3 Where the accommodation is located more than 15 miles from the site, the Operative shall receive either the Mileage Allowance or Mileage Rate as shown in Appendix B1.
- B30.4 An Operative sent to a job where lodging is necessary shall receive actual fare and payment for time spent travelling at basic Travel Rate from the employer's shop to the job. Similar payments shall apply on their return except that if they leave the job of their own free will within one clear calendar month from the date of their arrival, or are dismissed by their employer, no return fare or payment for time spent travelling shall be paid.
- B30.5 On each occasion that a transport authority (whether nationally or locally) announces a change in fares, then on the same date there shall be deemed to be a promulgation of an SJIB determination requiring the revised fares also to be paid to the Operatives concerned, who are paid fares in accordance with these rules.

B31. Lodging Allowance

- B31.1 Lodging allowance at the rate shown in Appendix B1 and www.sjib.org.uk shall be paid to an Operative who, by arrangement with their employer, has to take lodgings, and shall be payable in respect of each night spent away from home.
- B31.2 This rule shall not apply where suitable board and lodging is arranged by the employer at no cost to the Operative. Where the employer arranges accommodation, it shall be of reasonable standard and include breakfast and evening meal.
- B31.3 A lodging allowance retention fee per night may be paid as appropriate. Receipts should be presented to the employer in a timely manner.

- B31.4 No payment for the retention of lodgings during the annual holiday period shall be made by the employer except in cases where the Operative is required to pay a lodging retention fee during the annual holiday, when reimbursement shall be in respect of the amount actually paid up to a maximum agreed by the SJIB as shown in Appendix B1 and www.sjib.org.uk The Operative shall provide proof of payment to the employer's satisfaction.
- B31.5 The payment of lodging allowance shall not be made during absence from employment unless a Statement of Fitness for Work is produced for the whole of the period claimed. An Operative absent three times in any period of 12 weeks shall, for the third of such absences, provide a certificate prepared and certified by a doctor. Notwithstanding these provisions the employer may, following said absences, require such an Operative to be medically examined by a doctor commissioned by the employer. In such cases the terms of the Access to Medical Reports Act 1988 will apply (see Appendix B3).
- B31.6 If an Operative while working away from home is taken ill and is certified by a doctor to be unfit for work, notwithstanding that their actual employment has terminated or been suspended by custom or trade, they shall be allowed the above lodging allowance up to a maximum of five nights to enable arrangements to be made for them being taken to hospital or to return home. The payment of the above allowance shall not infer continued employment after the date of disability.
- Application for Lodging Allowance Form: See Appendix B5
 - Summary of Taxation of Travel and Lodging Payments: See Appendix B6.

B32. Periodic Travel

- B32.1 Operatives living away from home and in receipt of lodging allowance under Rule B31.1 – B31.6 inclusive shall be paid the following periodic travel allowances. Travel by rail shall be paid at the full standard rate.
- (a) On jobs up to and including 100 miles from the employer's shop, return fares from the job to the employer's shop, without payment for time spent travelling, shall be paid every two weeks.
 - (b) On jobs more than 100 miles and up to and including 200 miles from the employer's shop, return fares from the job to the employer's shop with four hours' payment for time spent travelling paid at ordinary rates, shall be paid every two weeks.

- (c) On jobs more than 200 miles from the employer's shop, return fares from the job to the employer's shop with 7.5 hours payment for time spent travelling at ordinary rates, shall be paid every two weeks.
- (d) In cases under sub-clauses (b) and (c) above, where the employer through necessity or expediency requires their Operatives to work during the specified weekend leave period, the employer shall arrange that they shall have another period in substitution, but this provision shall not apply under sub-clause (a) above.
- (e) Operatives who choose to return home at weekends outside the above prescribed periods shall do so at their own expense.

B33. Protracted Journeys

- B33.1 On protracted journeys the Operative shall be entitled to the basic Travel Rate for every hour (up to a maximum of 7.5 hours per day) they are travelling on an aeroplane, train, ship or other conveyance. Should a journey be interrupted or delayed and the Operative is provided with suitable accommodation, they shall be paid for the standard working hours of a day at the basic Travel Rate while so held up.
- B33.2 Where transport between the job and the shop is by air, then a return journey shall be arranged every four weeks, regardless of distance.

B34. Locally Engaged Labour

- B34.1 Where an employer does not have a shop within a 25 mile radius of the job, they can engage labour living within a 25 mile radius of that job. Operatives who are in receipt of the Travel Rate shall receive either a Mileage Allowance or Mileage Rate as shown in Appendix B1 and in accordance with B17.1 but with the exception of home being substituted for shop in B18.1.
- B34.2 Locally engaged labour living within a 25 mile radius of the job can be transferred to other jobs within that radius without affecting their entitlements under this rule. Operatives transferred to a job outside that radius may be entitled to lodging allowance in accordance with the Rules.
 - (a) Upon engagement, the site upon which the Operative is placed is formally their place of work and must be declared (as provided for under the amended SJIB Statement of Particular Terms of Employment) to comply with the requirements of the Employment Rights Act 1996.

- (b) When a redundancy situation occurs at the place where the Operative was so employed (Employment Rights Act 1996) that place is, for the shop recruited Operative, the entire work area covered by the shop of recruitment and, for the site recruited Operative, the site of recruitment, and selection for redundancy must be made on that basis, within the parameters of the employers agreed selection procedures and the statutory rights of those concerned.
- (c) It is advisable that an employer should make the points of law set out under (a) and (b) clear to the Operative, particularly the locally engaged Operative, when they accept work as a site recruited Operative.
- (d) In the event of a dispute arising, each case will be considered in the light of justice, equity and the merits of the individual case.

B35. Prohibition of Private Work

- B35.1 No Operative shall carry out electrical work for gain on their own account or in their own time while in employment. Operatives in breach of this rule are liable, after due enquiry at which they have the right to be represented, to be summarily dismissed.

B36. Meetings of Operatives

- B36.1 Meetings of Operatives shall not be held during working hours except with prior permission of the employer's authorised representative, following arrangement with an authorised representative of the Union recognised for bargaining purposes.
- B36.2 The foregoing provisions are subject to any relevant Codes of Practice.

B37. Tools

- B37.1 Employers shall provide as required all power-operated and expendable tools which shall be of suitable quality and of good repair. Operatives shall act with the greatest possible responsibility in respect of the use and safe-keeping of such tools supplied by their employers.

- B37.2 Each Operative shall provide a lockable tool box and the appropriate kit of hand tools as detailed in Appendix B7. These tools will be of suitable quality and in good repair for efficiently carrying out the work for which they are employed and shall be maintained in good condition. Apprentices shall also provide said tools in quantity and type as indicated for the Stage(s) of Apprenticeship.
- B37.3 Where practicable, employers shall provide suitable lockable facilities for storing Operatives' tool kits. Operatives shall be responsible for depositing and uplifting their tool kits from such lockable facilities at the appropriate opening times.
- B37.4 Where such lockable facilities are provided, the employer will be responsible for the loss of any tool kits due to theft, provided that the theft took place when the lockable facility was locked and such theft was reported to the police. In such cases, employers will be responsible for replacing only those tools listed in the National Working Rules. Employers shall carry out periodic tool kit inspections to ensure that such kit or other tools provided by the Operative are of suitable quality and in good repair.
- B37.5 During working hours the employer shall be responsible for insuring Operatives' tools that are stored within a locked company vehicle.
- B37.6 Other than B37.5 above, employers are not responsible for the loss or damage to the tools or personal property of Operatives. All Operatives are advised in their own interest to insure such articles against loss. Operatives must ensure that any such loss or damage must be repaired or replaced as appropriate within a reasonable time of discovery.
- B37.7 Damaged or inferior quality tools must not be used by the Operative.
- B37.8 When working on or near live installations, insulated tools must be used.

B38. Ratio of Apprentices

- B38.1 On a three-year average, an employer shall not employ more than one Apprentice to one skilled* Operative and shall adjust their general staff to that proportion. Apprentices shall be subject to appropriate supervision by a competent person.
- B38.2 On any job the ratio of Apprentices shall not exceed one Apprentice to one skilled* Operative.

Note: *Skilled shall be interpreted according to the Qualifications of Skilled Operative.

B39. Safety, Health and Welfare

- B39.1 The employer shall comply with legal requirements regarding safety, health and welfare facilities.
- B39.2 Employers have a duty to ascertain and comply with their responsibilities under the relevant Statute(s) and Regulation(s) and conditions of their contract. Operatives have a duty to ascertain and comply with their responsibilities under the relevant Statute(s) and Regulation(s) and conditions of employment before commencing work on a site.
- B39.3 Operatives must observe their safety instructions to ensure the safety of themselves and their fellow Operatives.
- B39.4 Operatives must use and not misuse facilities provided for their individual safety, health and welfare.
- B39.5 The wearing of safety helmets shall extend to all work places where a risk of head injury is present.
- B39.6 Consequently, except where the company or site rules or notices make exception or where the foreseeable risk of head injury is negligible, all Operatives, Adult Trainees and Apprentices shall wear a safety helmet at all times when in the vicinity of construction operations.
- B39.7 Subject to the use of the appropriate disciplinary procedures under these Rules, action taken by an employer to enforce the wearing and use of Personal Protective Equipment and Clothing shall be supported by the SJIB.
- B39.8 Operatives will comply with the employer arrangements relative to the provision and maintenance of Personal Protective Equipment and Clothing.

B40. Employment in England, Wales, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands

- B40.1 Operatives employed under the terms of the National Working Rules who are required to work in England, Wales, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands shall continue to be entitled to benefits under the SJIB Holiday Schemes and payments in respect of any public holidays taken at times in accordance with Rules applying to the site but, in all other respects, shall be paid wages and be subject to conditions of employment concerned by the JIB for England, Wales, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands. Where the proposed arrangement involves long-term working outside Scotland the Operative should, where possible, be offered a transfer with the application of JIB Rules and arrangements. Until any such transfer is arranged, the Operative's place of employment remains as specified in their current Contract of Employment for the purposes of assessing entitlement to periodic travel allowances, lodging allowance and other related matters.

(ii) Mileage Rate	Taxable
(iii) Retention Payments (Annual Holiday)	Not taxable
Periodic Fares – SJIB Handbook, Section B Rule B32
Period Return Fares (back to shop for Operative in lodging)

When Operatives travel between home and second or subsequent jobs within 25 mile radius of the initial job to which transferred by the employer.
(i) Mileage Allowance (between home and the job)	Taxable
(ii) Mileage Rate	Taxable

Note 1: Lodging Allowance

Lodging Allowance is not taxable where the Operative has continuing family or financial commitments at home and where an employer is provided with satisfactory proof of lodging. The onus of providing this evidence rests with the Operative. Lodging Allowance is taxable when paid to an Operative:

- without family or financial commitments; and
- outside a radius of 50 miles of the employer's shop; and
- for a period exceeding (or expected to exceed) 24 months.

Note 2: Locally Engaged Labour

If a locally engaged Operative is transferred to another job more than 25 miles from the job on which they were initially engaged they should, under the terms of the National Working Rules, be offered a new contract of employment on a shop-recruited basis. Failure to make this offer or a refusal on the part of the Operative concerned to accept it will mean that HMRC may regard the Operative as still locally engaged. Any additional emoluments paid on a shop-recruited basis such as Lodging or Travel Allowances would then be wholly taxable.

APPENDIX C4

Dispensation Application Form.....	98
------------------------------------	----

C1. Purpose of the Codes

- C1.1 The purpose of the Codes of Good Practice is to provide employers with guidance as to the recommended processes and procedures.
- C1.2 A failure on the part of the employer to observe any provisions of a Code of Practice shall not itself render the employer liable to any proceedings. However, employers should be aware that in any proceedings before a National Dispute Committee, any such Code of Practice shall be admissible in evidence and can be taken into account when making a decision.

C2. Code of Good Practice for the Direct Recruitment of Operatives

- C2.1 This Code of Good Practice provides a guide which should be applied by employers when considering employing an individual directly.
- C2.2 One of the principal objects of the SJIB is to further the progress of the Industry for the mutual advantage of employers and Operatives. To help achieve this, the SJIB has adopted a set of shared values which apply across the Industry, ensuring the co-operation of all who work under the SJIB terms and conditions. These values embrace integrity, respect, equality and fairness. Their application ensures that employer and Operative workplace relationships are open, honest and transparent.
- C2.3 Consequently, the SJIB considers the use of blacklists in employment practices by any of its members as a clear breach of these shared values and undermines the work undertaken by the SJIB. The use of blacklists contravenes much of the legislation which underpins the employment relationship.
- C2.4 The SJIB's position on blacklisting is absolutely clear. The SJIB does not condone any form of blacklisting of any Operative employed under the terms and conditions of the SJIB National Working Rules.
- C2.5 Employers may wish to utilise recruitment policies and procedures they already have in place. Those organisations which do not have such policies may wish to use this guidance as a means to comply with good practice and any appropriate legislation.
- C2.6 Employers must consider their legal responsibilities to ensure that no unlawful discrimination occurs during the recruitment process.

C2.7 Employment is defined in this guidance as direct employment*.

*Where individuals are subject to United Kingdom income tax and social security, “direct employment” for these purposes means employment (on a contract of employment or apprenticeship) to which PAYE income tax and Class 1 National Insurance contributions are applicable.

C3. Pre-Recruitment

- C3.1 Before beginning the recruitment process, employers should consider whether there are existing employees who are able and willing to undertake training in order to fill the vacancy.
- C3.2 It is good practice for an employer to develop a Job Specification, Person Specification and Job Description giving a detailed description of the role including all responsibilities, requirements and objectives.
- C3.3 A Job Specification should detail the core terms and conditions of the particular vacancy and should include salary, benefits and holiday entitlement.
- C3.4 A Person Specification is a profile of the ideal new employee, which should indicate the skills, experience, abilities and personal qualities needed to carry out the role.
- C3.5 A Person Specification should include:
- The technical, organisational, creative and any other relevant skills and ability the employer would expect from an ideal candidate;
 - Specific qualifications or training required for the job;
 - Level of experience expected of an ideal candidate.
- C3.6 A Job Description should include:
- The job title and position in the company, including their line manager or staff reporting to them;
 - A summary of the main purpose of the job and any objectives;
 - The main tasks and duties of the job;
 - The scope of the job and how it fits within the wider structure of the employer;
 - The location of the job;
 - If the job is permanent or for a fixed term;
 - Essential skills and qualifications of the job;
 - Information on the employer.

C4. Advertising

- C4.1 Any advertisement for an electrical role should specify the SJIB grade, for example Approved Electrician, which will relate to the particular qualifications, skills and experience required of the successful candidate. The duties of Operatives are set out within Section K of the SJIB Handbook. Detailing this information at the beginning will help to avoid confusion over the roles and responsibilities, and will allow the applicant to know what the applicable terms are such as rates of pay, Mileage Allowance, etc. It should also contain information on how to apply, details of whom a candidate can contact to obtain further information from (including name, telephone number and/or email address) and the closing date for completed applications.
- C4.2 Personal qualities and skills required should also be included within any advert, as these can be just as important as technical ability.

C5. Applications

- C5.1 To assist collation and comparability, employers may wish to use a standardised application form in addition to or as an alternative to a curriculum vitae (CV).
- C5.2 If employers choose to utilise an application form, it should contain a request for the following information from the candidate:
- (a) Contact details
 - (b) Current employment details
 - (c) Relevant skills and experience.
- C5.3 Information which is asked for in relation to equality and diversity monitoring should be included on a separate sheet which can be detached and returned anonymously to the employer. It should be noted in the application that providing such information is voluntary.
- C5.4 Employers should be familiar with the requirements of current data protection legislation if applications are to be held in either electronic or hard copies.

C6. Considerations Prior to Interview

- C6.1 Candidates should be shortlisted based on the merits of their application set against the Job Specification, Person Specification and Job Description. Shortlisting should be based on the principles of equality. During the sifting process where employers are selecting candidates to invite for interview, where possible, two people should undertake this selection to avoid bias. It would be ideal to involve the Line Manager of the candidate in the selection process.
- C6.2 When confirming the interview details by letter or email, an employer should inform the candidate of who will be conducting the interview and what, if any, documentation will be required to be produced, for example, an SJIB ECS (Grade) Card. If the employer wishes to undertake the selection by means of an assessment, it must be specified to the candidate.
- C6.3 Employers should also ask if there are any special arrangements which need to be made in order to accommodate the applicant at interview where they are considered to have a disability or require workplace adaptations.

C7. Interview

- C7.1 The interview has two main aims: to offer the employer the opportunity to ascertain if the candidate is suitable for the job and, at the same time, provide the candidate with the relevant information to allow them to decide if their own aspirations and career goals align with the requirements and vision of the employer.
- C7.2 Interviews can help to ensure that the candidate is suitable for the position and enables the employer to evaluate the candidate against the competencies required for the role.
- C7.3 Ideally the interviewer should be someone who has received training in how to conduct an interview or is an experienced person who is able to utilise this method to effectively judge the skills and competencies of the candidate. For further information and guidance on conducting interviews, please contact the SJIB.
- C7.4 The interview must be conducted in private to best allow the free exchange of information and to ask questions in an unencumbered manner. It should be noted that it is likely that the candidate will be nervous and this should be taken into consideration.

- C7.5 The interview also allows the employer to question the candidate in more depth about their application (for example, to identify and enquire about gaps in employment).
- C7.6 To achieve both of these aims, the interview must be well structured, thus encouraging an informed debate that allows the candidate to show their best qualities and the employer to reach an informed view.
- C7.7 The employer should make the applicant aware of the SJIB Welfare Benefits and the levels of cover which are in place (Section E of the SJIB Handbook).
- C7.8 Once the interviews have been conducted, all interviewers should score each candidate based on their performance during the interview against the criteria set out in the Person Specification.
- C7.9 Employers should establish scoring criteria in advance. The same criteria should be used for all candidates to ensure consistency.
- C7.10 Scoring methodology should be noted on the interview paperwork in case a candidate requests feedback on their performance.
- C7.11 Once all candidates have been scored, the candidate with the highest score should be offered the position.
- C7.12 All applicants should be informed of the outcome, successful or otherwise, as soon as possible after the interview. Employers should make every effort to provide feedback upon request from the candidate.

C8. Offer and Acceptance

- C8.1 Any offer of employment should be confirmed in writing specifying:
- The job title in relation to the relevant SJIB grade and occupational discipline;
 - The terms of the offer;
 - The start date of employment;
 - Clear instructions on the proposed place of work and the daily start and finish time for that job and who to report to;
 - Employer's own procedures or rules that the applicant will need to know at this point, which should be attached;

- (f) Where employers employ more than five people, a copy of the written policy statement for health and safety (which the employer is required to have under legislation).
- C8.2 Employers should include details of how the successful candidate should accept the offer of employment (e.g. by email or letter to the appropriate person) and the date by which the employer should receive the acceptance.
- C8.3 The offer of employment may be conditional and subject to a satisfactory reference being provided and production of a valid SJIB ECS (Grade) Card. There may also be a requirement for employment to be conditional on positive screening through Disclosure Scotland and/or client approval or clearance for site/project access (dependent on client requirements). If this is the case, the employer should make this position clear to the candidate.
- C8.4 Employers should bear in mind that there is no legal requirement placed on a previous employer to provide a reference. A suitable applicant should not be refused employment on the basis of a referee not providing a reference.
- C8.5 Employers are required to ensure that the successful candidate has the right to work in the UK prior to commencing work. Where the successful candidate is not an EU citizen, further checks may be pursued through UK Visas and Immigration.

C9. Written Statement of Employment Particulars

- C9.1 In accordance with current and relevant legislation, employers must provide a principle statement on the first day of employment and a wider written statement within two months of the start of employment. The necessary information needed to comply with the minimum legal requirements is contained within the SJIB template Statement of Employment Particulars document (available at www.sjib.org.uk/handbooks/#guides-sops).
- C9.2 Please note that these templates only confirm basic information, therefore employers are advised to include details of their own policies and procedures and may add to or vary this document as appropriate. No terms and conditions, however, can override those contained within the SJIB National Working Rules.

- C9.3 The parties have further revisited the SJIB Code of Good Practice on Sub-Contracting and the Use of Self-Employed Employees and jointly agree that improved stability in the labour market within the industry can only be achieved by the direct employment of Operatives.

C10. Code of Good Practice for the Temporary Use of Labour-Only Sub-Contractors (Self-Employed Electrical Employees)

- C10.1 This Code of Good Practice provides a guide which should be applied by employers when considering employing a labour-only sub-contractor.
- C10.2 The use of labour-only sub-contractors/self-employed employees by employer participants is permitted in accordance with the following conditions:
- (a) When filling vacancies, no matter how short term, an employer's preferred option will be directly employed Operatives.
 - (b) Where it is not possible to recruit directly employed Operatives, labour-only sub-contractors/self-employed employees may be used but must:
 - (i) Be in possession of a valid SJIB ECS (Grade) Card in the appropriate electrical discipline; and
 - (ii) Be covered by Public Liability insurance as required by the SJIB to the value of £1,000,000 or such other amount as laid down by the SJIB from time to time.
- C10.3 No directly employed Operative may be made redundant while any temporary self-employed Operative is used except where acceptable alternative work has been offered to and refused by the directly employed Operative or where the conditions of skill or the conditions of site employment are essential to the effective conclusion of the work involved.

C11. Code of Good Practice for the Temporary Use of Self-Employed Labour

- C11.1 This Code of Good Practice provides a guide which should be applied by employers when considering self-employed labour.
- C11.2 It is the policy of the SJIB that, where possible, employers choose as a first option to recruit directly employed labour in order to maintain a skilled workforce able to provide the full range of electrical work. The SJIB also encourages, where feasible, the transfer of directly employed Operatives between member companies for short periods.
- C11.3 To protect the public against injury and to ensure that the appropriate safety and competence standards are met, employers are permitted to use self-employed labour-only employees in accordance with the following SJIB Code of Good Practice: Temporary Use of Labour-Only Sub-Contractors (Self-Employed Electrical Employees).

C12. Code of Good Practice for Welfare Facilities

- C12.1 This Code of Good Practice provides a guide which should be applied by employers when providing welfare facilities and describes the minimum welfare facilities which should be provided or made available on fixed construction sites in order to comply with the Construction (Design and Management) Regulations 2015.
- C12.2 Operatives in the Electrical Contracting Industry who work on construction sites need adequate toilet and washing facilities, a place to warm up and eat their food and somewhere to store clothing and valuables.
- C12.3 Good practice and legislation require that employers:
- (a) Ensure that their Operatives are provided with suitable and sufficient welfare facilities throughout the duration of their presence on a particular site or contract. This should also include consideration of a contingency plan likely to be necessary to ensure the reliable provision of welfare requirements at all times.
 - (b) Ensure that the following minimum requirements are provided in all cases:

- (i) Readily accessible, well lit and ventilated washing facilities comprising suitable basins, hot and cold running water, towels and soap or other suitable alternatives;
- (ii) Adequate numbers of toilets located near to washing facilities;
- (iii) A supply of drinking water from a readily available and conspicuously marked source;
- (iv) Facilities for changing which:
 - Include clean and ventilated clothing storage and, where necessary, separate storage for work and own clothing to prevent potential cross-contamination with hazardous substances;
 - Provide enclosed, secure shelter from prevailing weather conditions;
 - Provide facilities, where necessary, for drying clothing;
 - Are heated during cold weather.
- (c) Ensure that all of the above are maintained in effective working order and are kept clean and hygienic.
- (d) Assess the need for additional welfare facilities and, where necessary, provide and maintain them.
- (e) In the event of welfare facilities becoming unavailable due to unforeseen circumstances, e.g. power failure, extreme weather, etc, then serious consideration should be given as to how long Operatives should remain on site without these facilities. Operatives should be prepared to assist the employers in finding a temporary solution to the lack of facilities. If a decision is taken to suspend work for the day after a reasonable period has elapsed, then the Operatives should be paid the basic hours normally worked on that particular day. In such a situation the Union should be informed as soon as is reasonably practical so as to minimise the possibility of any unofficial action being taken by the Operatives.

C12.4 Good practice and legislation require that Operatives:

- (a) Are required to take reasonable care of the welfare facilities that are provided for their benefit;
- (b) Must report promptly any defects to their employer;
- (c) May be liable to disciplinary action should they grossly or wilfully abuse the welfare facilities.

C12.5 In circumstances where adverse weather conditions affect welfare facilities, employers and Operatives are expected to adopt a common sense approach and seek to work together to ensure that any disruption to workflow is minimised.

C13. Guidance on Redundancy

C13.1 A comprehensive guide to Managing Collective Redundancies, where 20 or more employees are to be made redundant at one establishment, is available in Section H of the SJIB Handbook.

C14. SJIB Dispensation

C14.1 Electrical contracting companies who intend to apply wages and/or conditions on certain engineering construction projects in Scotland that differ from the SJIB National Working Rules are required to obtain approval (Dispensation) from the SJIB before commencement of the work.

C14.2 The different categories of project covered under this rule are:

(a) National Agreement for the Engineering Construction Industry Projects (NAECI) defined as Category 1, 2 or 3

Where skilled trades are engaged on these categories, they shall be paid NAECI rates of pay.

(b) Projects covered by client agreements

On those projects the electrical contractors will normally be required by the client to adhere to the rates of pay and conditions of employment incorporated in the client agreement.

(c) Other projects

This heading covers any other major project on which there may be parity problems between the earnings of other trades and those of electrical contractors.

C14.3 The NJC operates a registration system to approve employers to use the NAECI. All in-scope engineering construction activities as defined in NAECI are eligible for registration. Registration applies to current and new Category 1 Major and Basic New Construction Projects, Category 2 Long Term Repair and Maintenance Operations and Category 3 Major Events.

C14.4 The registration process formalises and strengthens the use of NAECI, thus ensuring its benefits are delivered in full for our clients as well as for employers and Operatives of signatory employer associations and trade unions.

- C14.5 Members tendering for work in any of the categories mentioned in C14.2 must inform the Secretary of the SJIB and, if appropriate, complete an Application for Dispensation to Tender following discussion of their requirements with the local Union Regional Officer (see Appendix C3). Where there is any doubt in the member's mind, such as in relation to projects in categories C14.2 (b) and (c), they should seek advice from the Secretary of the SJIB. The Secretary of the SJIB, if appropriate, will discuss the matter with other member organisations submitting tenders for the work to agree a common approach and award Dispensation accordingly.
- C14.6 The Secretary, after consultation with the leaders of both parties, may award Dispensation and will advise the SJIB National Board accordingly.
- C14.7 The project must come within one of the following criteria:
- (a) The project must involve major new construction work.
 - (b) Long-term maintenance work.
 - (c) Refurbishment to incorporate machinery to manufacture a saleable product.
 - (d) Engineering construction trades must be employed or be due to be employed and be in receipt of payments in excess of the SJIB graded rates of pay during the period when the SJIB members are working on the project.
 - (e) The project has payments in operation in excess of the SJIB graded rates of pay.
 - (f) The project has a defined client agreement.
- C14.8 The following sites are specifically excluded from such second-tier payments:
- (a) General building sites such as office blocks, hospitals, universities, housing complexes, etc.
 - (b) Sites where arrangements to operate an incentive scheme or other payment enhancement to the SJIB National Working Rules have been awarded Dispensation by the SJIB.
 - (c) Ships not moored to the land, offshore rigs and platforms at their final position in the UK, designated areas for the exploration and/or production of oil or gas from the seabed.

C15. Installation of Cables Fixed to Buildings or Structures Including Cables Laid Within the Perimeter of the Site

15.1 Introduction

- (a) This Cable Agreement is designed to provide a framework of Employment Provision of the highest market sustainable level, maintaining the spirit and ethos of the JIB and SJIB social partnerships, encompassing the JIB Register of Cabling and Jointing Contractors, JIB and SJIB members undertaking their own cabling and jointing work and employees of such companies. The Agreement provides the procedures necessary to assist members, enabling stability of tender, protection against unfair competition from unregulated contractors, a system of quality assurance and promotion of good safety levels.
- (b) This Agreement is in respect of installation of cables fixed to buildings or structures including cables laid within the perimeter of a site.

15.2 Scope of work

Installation of cables and conductors to racks, trays, metal or fibre or other composition ducting, and the clipping of said cables thereto or therein and earthing runs.

15.3 Types of employee

This Agreement refers to Skilled Qualified Cabling Operatives and those in training; the legacy cabling grades of Leading Cable Hand, Cable Foreman, and Cable Installation Supervisor; Skilled Electrical Operatives; and Labourers; as defined under Section K, Grading. In the electrotechnical Industry, the minimum requirement for skilled status is a National Vocational Qualification (NVQ) Level 3 in the appropriate electrotechnical discipline.

15.4 Class of work

The laying and installation of all cables to trays or supports, using methods or materials appropriate to the industry at the time.

15.5 Demarcation and method of working

- (a) For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Agreement shall preclude the utilisation of Skilled Electrical Operatives to carry out any portion of the cabling work.

- (b) The measuring and cutting to length of cables will be undertaken by Skilled Operatives. The capping of cables which are heat-shrink end caps will be undertaken by those who have been suitably trained in the use of flame torch or hot-air gun for this purpose.
- (c) Any graded Operative may be employed on pulling in heavy cables and auxiliary cables providing there is adequate skilled supervision of not less than the Approved Electrician or Cable Foreman grades.
- (d) The graded Operatives referred to in clause 15.5(c) above may handle all cables on all trunk routes such as cable tunnels, shafts and cable ways for the whole of the routes of cables concerned except for those auxiliary routes as defined under clause 15.5(f).
- (e) The setting of bends and selection of cleats is to be undertaken by Skilled Operatives who should take into account bending radii and cable characteristics. Any graded Operative may be engaged on the installation and running on auxiliary routes of single cables where the diameter of the cable being installed is 20mm or greater.
- (f) Notwithstanding the full range of cabling work that may be undertaken by Skilled Electrical Operatives (with or without the assistance of any other graded Operatives in accordance with Note 2), Skilled Qualified Cabling Operatives are authorised for the installation and running on auxiliary routes of single cables (with or without the assistance of any other graded Operatives in accordance with Note 2) when:
 - (i) The diameter of the cables being installed is greater than 10mm where these cables are banded in groups exceeding 20mm in diameter for 70% of the cable length and the total length of the cables being installed is 5,000m or greater on the contract;
 - (ii) The diameter of the cables being installed is 10mm or less where these cables are banded in groups exceeding 20mm in diameter for 70% of the cable length and the total length of the cables being installed is 10,000m or greater on the contract.
- (g) Additional Circuit Protective Conductor (CPC) when installed is to be included in diameter of the cable and can be installed with circuit cables at the same time.

Notes

1. Nothing in these rules shall preclude the proper training of Apprentices and Cable Hands in any of the skills associated with this Agreement.
2. Any graded Operative may be used to execute any unskilled portion of the work defined above.
3. All parties to this Agreement shall work together for the prevention and resolution of disputes, the observance of the JIB and SJIB

(where appropriate) rules and generally to promote good working relationships and co-operation between all stakeholders. If an issue cannot be resolved either informally or formally at local level, then either party can refer the matter through the JIB Resolution Procedure or the SJIB Resolving Issues at Work procedures.

4. Due to the addition of a new career progression structure in the field of cabling, certain paragraphs of the previous cable agreement have been removed to avoid confusion. These paragraphs concern the installation of containment systems which are the tasks of Skilled Electrical Operatives.

Explanatory Notes – Statement of Employment Particulars

1. This Statement does not constitute a contract and does not need to be signed. It is evidence that an express or implied, oral or written contract exists which includes the terms set out overleaf. This notice shall be given to the Operative not later than two months from their first employment with the employer.

2. Under the Employment Rights Act 1996, the following periods of notice must be given:

Period of Continuous Employment	Employer to Employee	Employee to Employer
Less than one month	One day (as per NWRs)	One day (as per NWRs)
More than one month	One week	One week
Two years and more	One week per year of completed service to maximum of 12 weeks	One week
12 years or more	12 weeks	One week

3. The Employment Rights Act 1996 allows either party to waive their right to notice on any occasion or to accept payment in lieu of notice. In either event, the decision should preferably be expressed in writing.

4. The periods of notice set out above do not affect the employer's right of instant dismissal for serious misconduct including misdemeanour or bad workmanship. In these circumstances, the employer has the right to treat an Operative's contract of employment as terminable without notice subject always to the employee's statutory rights in respect of unfair dismissal.

5. Employment is conditional upon the employee abiding by the National Working Rules for the Electrical Contracting Industry in Scotland and the disputes procedure contained therein.

Any employee who takes strike action, whether unofficial or recognised as official by their trade union, without the recognised disputes procedure under the National Working Rules being fully used, will break their contract of employment and, if dismissed by their employer for so doing, has no statutory right to notice or payment during notice. If such an employee is not re-engaged by the same employer until after the next week after dismissal (i.e. a week ending on a Saturday), a further period of one month must be served anew before the employee becomes entitled to any subsequent statutory rights to notice and payments during the notice under the Employment Rights Act 1996 subject always to any statutory rights which they may have regarding unfair dismissals.

Note: For detailed information on what comprises “the last 52 weeks” employers are advised to refer to Sections 221-224 of the Employment Rights Act and ACAS Guidance on Holiday and Holiday Pay. - D10.1 When Christmas Day or New Year's Day falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the Monday following shall be treated as a public holiday.
- D910.2 When Boxing Day falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the Tuesday following shall be treated as a public holiday.
- D10.3 Operatives who are required to work over the Christmas and New Year period shall take, as holiday, the days worked at a later date agreed with the employer.

D11. Payment for Working Public Holidays

- D11.1 Payment for working on any public holiday, excluding Christmas and New Year, is time plus one half and a day off in lieu.
- D11.2 Operatives required to work on any one of the three designated public holidays over Christmas and New Year shall be paid as follows:
- (a) Christmas Day – Double time plus a day off in lieu to be mutually agreed
 - (b) Boxing Day – Time plus one half of the appropriate hourly rate plus a day off in lieu to be mutually agreed
 - (c) New Year's Day – Time plus one half of the appropriate hourly rate plus a day off in lieu to be mutually agreed.

D12. Qualifying for Payment

- D12.1 In order to qualify for payment on any one of the eight public holidays, an Operative must work a full normal day on the working days preceding and following the holiday.
- D12.2 An Operative shall receive payment if, on one or both of the qualifying days, the Operative:
- (a) Was absent through certified sickness (Self Certification or Statement of Fitness for Work)
 - (b) Was on a rest period for the day following continuous working all the previous night
 - (c) Was absent with the employer's permission.

D13. Periodic Return Fares

D13.1 Travelling fares only shall be paid to Operatives working away from home except in the case of Christmas Day and Boxing Day, which for the purpose of this Rule shall be regarded along with New Year's Day as one holiday (See Rule B.32).

D14. Operatives Leaving Employment

D14.1 Operatives will receive payment for any outstanding holidays on termination of employment.

D14.2 Where the proportion of holidays taken by an Operative exceeds their accrued holiday entitlement, the Operative, on termination of employment, will be required to reimburse their employer for the balance by means of a deduction from final earnings. In these circumstances, the employer will inform the Operative in writing of the amounts to be recovered before deduction.

D15. SJIB Holiday Pay Schemes

D15.1 The SJIB offers two methods by which employers may save for holiday pay. The object of these schemes is to assist employers in ensuring their Operatives receive appropriate periods of rest with pay. They are not a means by which Operatives can achieve extra pay if they do not take the prescribed holidays. The two methods are:

- The SJIB Holiday/Welfare Credit Scheme; or
- The SJIB Holiday with Pay Scheme.

D15.2 These schemes shall apply to all Technicians, Approved Electricians, Electricians, Labourers, Apprentices and Adult Trainees whose wages and working conditions are determined by the SJIB.

D15.3 Participation in these schemes is recommended for all employers registered as members of the SJIB who operate within the electrical contracting industry in Scotland.

D16. SJIB Holiday/Welfare Credit Scheme

- D16.1 Under the provisions of this scheme the SJIB issues Holiday/Welfare Credits weekly in respect of each Operative covering:
- (a) 22 days of Annual Holiday
 - (b) 5 days of Recognised Holiday (Christmas Day, Boxing Day, New Year's Day, 2nd January and Easter Monday).
 - (c) Sickness, Accident and Group Life Insurance Benefits.
(Please also refer to Section E – SJIB Welfare Benefit Scheme)

Note: Rule D3.1 of the SJIB National Working Rules stipulates that Operatives are entitled to 32 days' holiday. For the remaining days of holiday not covered by the Holiday Credit Scheme, employers are obliged to pay in accordance with Rule D5, provided that the Operative was at work or available for work the day before and the day after the holiday (see Rules D12.1 and D12.2).

- D16.2 Holiday Credits are not the property of the Operative. They are a means for the employer to accrue holiday pay for Operatives.
- D16.3 The employer will complete a New Starts Report on behalf of each new Operative and is responsible for the purchase of and the value of Holiday Credits on behalf of each Operative.
- D16.4 The full value of the Holiday Credits purchased (less an administration charge) shall be paid to the employer by the SJIB in March, June and December.
- D16.5 Operatives should receive their holiday pay from their employer at the time of leave, rather than when the employer receives the holiday credit payment.

D17. SJIB Holiday with Pay Scheme

- D17.1 Under the provisions of this scheme, the SJIB holds money deposited by employers covering the value of 32 days' holiday (24 days' Annual Holiday and eight days' public holiday).
- D17.2 Employers who participate in the SJIB Holiday with Pay Scheme are required to purchase Welfare Credits for all their Operatives.

- D17.3 Reimbursement of holiday pay (less an administration charge) from the Holiday with Pay Scheme will be made by the SJIB following verification by the employer. Payment will be made via the employer's bank account approximately one week prior to the holiday period.

D18. Employers' Weekly Contributions

- D18.1 The SJIB shall determine the value of the weekly holiday credits/deposits. These shall be paid wholly by the employer in respect of each Operative covered by the Scheme.
- D18.2 Employers must continue to purchase holiday credits/deposit holiday pay in respect of any whole calendar week during which an Operative is absent from work due to certified illness.

D19. Payment of Holiday Pay to Operatives

- D19.1 The sum to be paid to the Operative shall be the equivalent of the total number of holidays as shown on the Operative's SJIB Holiday/Welfare Credits Scheme or the SJIB Holiday with Pay Scheme. The payment shall be made by the employer in whose employment the Operative is in at the dates of the holiday.
- D19.2 In the event of the employer failing to fulfil this obligation, it shall be open to the Operative to report the matter to the SJIB.

D20. Payment of Holiday Credits of a Deceased Operative

- D20.1 Any outstanding Holiday Credits will be paid to the employer. The employer shall be responsible for making any payments due to the beneficiary or beneficiaries of the deceased Operative.

D21. Administration of Schemes

- D21.1 Responsibility for interpretation and administration of the Schemes and for settlement of all questions arising out of the Schemes shall be vested in the SJIB.
- D21.2 All disputes arising out of this agreement shall be dealt with in accordance with the procedures laid down in the National Working Rules of the SJIB.
- D21.3 The Schemes may be varied or amended at any time by the SJIB.

Operatives can choose to opt out of an auto enrolment scheme by contacting the pension provider. F2. Private Medical Insurance

- F2.1. Private medical insurance cover must be provided for Operatives as part of the SJIB Welfare Benefits package. Eligibility criteria are specified in Section E1.
- F2.2 SJIB/SELECT Members can purchase cover under a Private Medical Insurance Scheme that provides benefits which are compliant with the SJIB Terms and Conditions through EC Insurance Services Ltd (ECIS) who are authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

 - (d) Full cover for cancer diagnostics and treatment.
 - (e) 45-day in-patient mental health cover.

- F3.2 If an employer wishes to provide this benefit from an alternative provider, they must provide evidence to the SJIB that equivalent benefits are being provided.

F4. Operatives Joining the Scheme

- F4.2 Operatives joining the scheme will be eligible to claim from the beginning of the month following their join date.

F5. Operatives Leaving the Scheme

- F5.1 For Operatives leaving the scheme, eligibility will continue until the end of the month in which they leave.

F6. Administration of the Scheme

- F6.1 Contact ECIS on 0330 221 0241 or email ecis@ecins.co.uk for full policy details.
- F6.2 ECIS sends an eligibility list to the private medical insurance supplier at the start of each month.
- F6.3 Full terms and conditions will be sent to employers annually. Please note that exclusions and conditions apply.

G1. Introduction

G1.1 This section provides guidance on the grievance and disciplinary procedures, resolving grievances and managing appeals from disciplinary or redundancy dismissals.

G2. Reasons for this Guidance

G2.1 This guidance meets the requirements of the Employment Rights Act 1996, other relevant legislation and of associated Codes of Practice and Guidance, as published by Acas. All employers shall ensure that a copy of this guidance is accessible to their Operatives.

G2.2 The aim of the guidance is to promote fairness in the treatment of Operatives and to indicate expected levels of performance and conduct.

G2.3 The guidance also provides a comprehensive industry disputes procedure which can be invoked to resolve grievances and any appeals against disciplinary or redundancy dismissals, when matters have not been resolved through a company's domestic procedures.

G2.4 When an Operative fails to reach the required standards of performance and has not responded to the opportunities provided for improvement or has committed a breach of the rules, the appropriate disciplinary action, as set out in the guidance can be taken.

G3. Application and Scope

G3.1 This guidance, and the disciplinary proceedings included within it, applies to all Operatives employed under SJIB terms and conditions.

G4. Understanding the Guidance

G4.1 Any Operative requiring clarification should first approach the employer, then the Union or the SJIB.

G4.2 Only the SJIB can give definitive rulings on its application.

G5. Operative Conduct Expectations

G5.1 Policy Statement

The paragraphs below outline the broad expectations of Operative conduct and the procedures which may be applied when the expected standards of conduct and behaviour are breached.

G5.2 General Behaviour

Operatives are expected to behave in a professional manner and to extend courtesy and respect to customers, clients and colleagues at all times.

G5.3 Timekeeping

- (a) Frequent or excessive lateness, or leaving the job early or extending any breaks, without permission, can result in disciplinary action being taken.
- (b) Operatives who agree to work overtime but who later fail to honour their undertaking, without good reason, will be regarded as absent without permission.

G5.4 Sickness

An Operative who is too ill to come to work should inform their employer on the first day of absence. A self-certificated absence form is required to cover the first seven days of absence. If the illness persists for more than seven days, including weekends, the absence must be supported by a Statement of Fitness for Work.

G5.5 Unauthorised Absence

- (a) Unauthorised absence can result in disciplinary action being taken.
- (b) Unauthorised absence or lateness in attending college by Adult Trainees and Apprentices will be treated in the same way as an absence from their place of work.

Note: For further information, refer to the SJIB Apprentice and Adult Training Schemes Guide.

G5.6 Permission for time off work, e.g. to accommodate an Operative's domestic and personal requirements including, but not limited to, bereavement, travel disruption and other emergency situations should, where possible and appropriate, be sought in advance.

G5.7 All Operatives are expected to carry out their work to acceptable standards.

- G5.8 The planning and supervision of work is primarily the responsibility of the employer but Operatives are expected to co-operate in anticipating delays and achieving an acceptable level of performance and productivity.
- G5.9 Refusing to obey a reasonable instruction will be regarded as non-co-operation and may lead to disciplinary action.
- G5.10 Misuse of materials, plant, equipment, tools and employer's or client's property, or a breach of instructions, can result in disciplinary action.
- G5.11 Health, Safety and Welfare
- (a) All Operatives are required to observe statutory requirements and company rules specified by their employer relating to health, safety and welfare.
 - (b) For health and safety reasons, Operatives should be suitably and safely dressed and, where required, wear the appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE). Employers may specify in more detail the particular arrangements applicable to their own organisations, for example, whether certain styles of clothing and footwear are appropriate in the prevailing conditions on site and are acceptable for safety reasons.
- G5.12 Refusing, neglecting or failing to observe safety rules and precautions, or a failure to properly use and maintain PPE provided by the employer, may result in disciplinary action.

G6. Disciplinary, Grievance and Dismissal Appeals Procedures

- G6.1 All employers are required to have formal company procedures in place, based on the Acas Code of Practice, which addresses disciplinary issues, Operative grievances and the management of any appeals arising from disciplinary and redundancy dismissals and the resolution of grievances.
- G6.2 If the matter cannot be resolved through the company's domestic procedures, the SJIB Formal Disputes Procedures may be invoked to resolve any grievance, disciplinary or redundancy appeals issues.

- G6.3 These procedures deal fully with the processing and presentation of relevant material, administrative control, time scales of the various stages of applications and give general guidance to all parties.
- (a) Where disciplinary and redundancy issues cannot be resolved through the company domestic appeal process, the SJIB Procedure for Handling and Resolving Disciplinary and Redundancy Dismissal Appeals, referred to in Appendix G7, shall be followed.
 - (b) Where grievance situations cannot be resolved through the company domestic process, the SJIB Procedure for Handling and Resolving Individual and Collective Grievances, referred to in Appendix G8, shall be followed.
- G6.4 Where an employer has exhausted the opportunity for resolving an issue using their domestic procedures, that issue can be referred to Stage 2 of the SJIB Procedure, as set out in Appendix G8, and any subsequent stages of that Procedure, as appropriate.

G7. Handling Disciplinary Issues in the Workplace

- G7.1 Once an employer has identified an issue of poor performance, absenteeism/lateness or minor misconduct involving an Operative, it is good practice to seek to address the issue with the Operative directly, either informally (e.g. informal verbal caution) or as part of a more formal process established by the employer (e.g. absence management, individual Operative assessment, job appraisal review, etc).
- G7.2 An Operative's performance on the job may fall short of the required standard because the Operative has not had adequate training, or is unable to do the work to the required standard for another reason. Prior to invoking a formal capability procedure which could lead to dismissal, an employer must:
- Identify the particular issues with the Operative's performance.
 - Ensure the Operative understands what those issues are.
 - Provide the Operative with appropriate support and training to address the performance issues identified.
- G7.3 It is important that the employer carries out the necessary investigations of potential disciplinary matters within five working days, to establish the facts of the matter and to determine whether it is appropriate to convene a disciplinary hearing.

- G7.4 Where the employer considers that they cannot allow the Operative to remain at work while a matter is being investigated, the Operative can be suspended, with pay, unless and until a decision about any disciplinary action has been taken. An Operative should be notified in writing of their suspension (see Appendix G2).
- G7.5 The period of suspension should be as brief as possible, should be kept under review and it should be made clear to the Operative that the suspension is not considered to be punitive and is not a disciplinary sanction.
- G7.6 Nevertheless, it should be made clear that, once an investigation is completed, a hearing may be convened and disciplinary action may follow.
- G7.7 Following the conclusion of the investigation(s) a decision shall be made as to whether there is a case to answer.
- G7.8 If a disciplinary hearing is to be convened, the Operative should be notified of this in writing no later than five working days following the decision. The hearing itself should be convened no later than ten working days following the notification. The notification should contain sufficient information to enable the Operative to prepare to defend their position at a disciplinary hearing. Operatives have the right to request any evidence relevant to the case prior to the disciplinary hearing. The time and venue of the disciplinary hearing should be set down and the Operative advised of their right to be accompanied at the hearing either by a fellow worker, a trade union representative or an official employed by the Union who has been certified by the Union as being competent to accompany an Operative (see Appendix G3).
- G7.9 The Operative should be given the opportunity to state their position at the hearing, allowing the employer to fully consider the matter before reaching a decision.
- G7.10 No disciplinary sanction shall be applied until a disciplinary hearing has taken place.
- G7.11 Where an Operative is persistently unable or unwilling to attend a disciplinary meeting, without good cause, the employer can make a decision on the evidence available and confirm the decision in writing (see Appendix G4). However, the Operative should be given an opportunity to attend in the knowledge that a decision could be made in their absence.

G8. Appropriate Disciplinary Action, Communication and Duration of Warnings

- G8.1 In reaching a decision following a disciplinary hearing, the employer should decide whether or not any further disciplinary or any other action is justified and inform the Operative accordingly in writing.
- G8.2 Verbal warnings may well suffice, e.g. for minor time-keeping offences, or careless inattention to detail, not resulting in serious faults. The purpose of such warnings is to improve future performance. The employer will provide training/support as appropriate. A record should be kept on the file of the Operative concerned for a period of six months (see Appendix G4).
- G8.3 Where misconduct is confirmed or, where, after a period of further training/support on the job, the Operative continues to perform unsatisfactorily, the Operative may be given a written warning. A record should be kept on the file of the Operative for a period of six months (see Appendix G4).
- G8.4 A further act of misconduct, or failure to improve on performance within a set period, may result in a final written warning. A record of the written warning should be kept on the file of the Operative concerned for a period of 12 months (see Appendix G4).
- G8.5 Written warnings should contain the information shown in Appendix G4, which is in the form of a template letter.
- G8.6 If the Operative's misconduct or unsatisfactory performance is sufficiently serious, it may be appropriate to move directly to a final written warning. This may happen where the Operative's actions have had, or are liable to have, a serious or harmful impact on the organisation.
- G8.7 A written, or final written warning should set out the nature of the misconduct or poor performance and the change in behaviour or improvement in performance required (with timescales). The Operative should be told how long the warning will remain current. The Operative should be informed of the consequences of further misconduct, or failure to improve performance, within the set period following a warning.
- G8.8 The intention is that most disciplinary action will have the effect of improving behaviour or work performance. Accordingly, except where gross misconduct has occurred, an Operative would not normally be dismissed for a first breach of discipline.

- G8.9 When an Operative's actions are so serious that they fall into the category of gross misconduct, dismissal without notice, even for a first offence, may be appropriate. Examples of gross misconduct are set out in Appendix G1.
- G8.10 It is important that no dismissal should take place without going through the steps detailed within Section G7.
- G8.11 Employers are responsible for ensuring that Operatives know who their immediate Line Manager is. Employers are advised to publicise job titles and those individuals who have the authority to dismiss and/or who will hear appeals. A decision to dismiss should only be taken by a manager who has the authority to do so. At the very least, wherever possible, no dismissal must be actioned by the Operative's immediate Line Manager without any reference to the next level of management. However, in many small organisations, there may be only one person, perhaps a sole proprietor, who alone has the authority to discipline and dismiss Operatives and to hear appeals, and they will have the ultimate responsibility in such cases.
- G8.12 An Operative should be informed within five working days of the reasons for their dismissal, the date on which the employment contract will end, the appropriate period of notice, if any, and their right of appeal (see Appendix G4).
- G8.13 Employers should keep records detailing the nature of the breach of disciplinary rules, the action taken and the reasons for it, whether an appeal was lodged and its outcome and subsequent developments. This is essential to the process, particularly if further formal stages of procedure are invoked.
- G8.14 Employers are advised that all warning letters/statements, particularly final warnings, issued to Operatives who are Union members, should, upon request, be copied to the Union Regional Officer. Details of all disciplinary action to be taken against an accredited Shop Steward, or other properly appointed Union representative, should be given to the Union in advance of any such disciplinary action. Written warnings should not be issued to shop stewards, or other properly appointed Union representatives, nor should their dismissal be effected, without first giving prior notice to the Union and discussing the circumstances of the case with the Union Regional Officer.

G9. Exceptional Cases

G9.1 Shift Work and Isolated Locations

- (a) Employers will need to make special provisions, where required, when dealing with disciplinary matters where, e.g. Operatives are working on night shift, or on isolated sites, where a supervisor or manager, with authority to take disciplinary action, is not on site at the time. That an incident does not come to an employer's attention until some time after the event will not preclude disciplinary action being taken, provided the matter is dealt with promptly once the employer is made aware of the circumstances.

G9.2 Union Representatives

- (a) Shop Stewards and other properly appointed Union representatives are subject to the same disciplinary arrangements as all other Operatives insofar as they relate to their workmanship and conduct as specified elsewhere in this Guidance. Their legal rights and those of other Operatives, where Union activities are concerned, will be respected by their employers. The reference to Shop Stewards and other Union representatives in no way implies that separate standards or conditions apply to them, but simply recognises that industrial relations problems can arise if disciplinary action is perceived to be an attack on the Union's function where the employer's stated intention is to ensure that standards are consistently applied. That is to say, employers will accord reasonable facilities to the Shop Stewards and other Union officials for the purpose of carrying out their Union duties, and will in no way victimise or penalise them for so doing, but such persons should otherwise conduct themselves in accordance with this guidance, which applies equally to themselves and to their workmates.
- (b) Prior to commencing any form of disciplinary action (or disciplinary investigation) against a recognised Union Senior Shop Steward/Shop Steward/Health and Safety Representative, the employer will contact the appropriate local Union Regional Officer.

G9.3 Criminal Offences Outside Employment

- (a) The Acas Code of Practice states that criminal offences outside employment should not be treated as an automatic reason for dismissal, regardless of whether the offence has any relevance to the duties of the Operative. The main consideration should be whether the offence is one that makes the Operative unsuitable for this type of work or unacceptable to other Operatives.

- (b) Operatives will normally not be dismissed simply because a charge against them is pending or because they are absent having been remanded in custody.
- (c) However, if an Operative is remanded in custody and the employer's work requirements are such that it must recruit a replacement, the employer may terminate their employment and this should be communicated in writing to the Operative in custody. It should be made clear to the Operative that, on release from remand, they may be considered for any subsequent vacancy that arises.
- (d) If an Operative is imprisoned, they should be informed in writing by letter that their employment has been terminated, on the grounds that they are unable to perform the contract of employment.

G9.4 New Operatives Working a Probationary Period

- (a) If employers operate a probationary period, during which employment can be terminated by either party, they must make clear to the Operative the length of the probationary period, what the required standards are and give any warnings necessary during the probationary period in a formal manner, so that Operatives understand the standards required of them.
- (b) The Written Statement of Employment Particulars provided to the Operative should state clearly what process will apply in the event that the Operative fails to meet the standards required in the probationary period and that the employment may be terminated during the probationary period.
- (c) The probationary period for Apprentices is six months, as specified in the SJIB Training Schemes Guide (see Section J – Apprentice and Adult Training Schemes Guide).

G10. Domestic Appeals Procedure

- G10.1 Operatives have the right of appeal against formal disciplinary action. In all disciplinary cases, appeals will follow the SJIB Procedures for Handling and Resolving Disciplinary and Redundancy Dismissal Appeals (see Appendix G7).
- G10.2 Any appeal against a verbal, written, final warning or notice of dismissal should be made, in the first instance, through the employer's disciplinary procedure which should provide for a domestic appeals meeting.

- G10.3 The appeal should be made in writing by the Operative no later than ten days after the decision of the Disciplinary Hearing was made known.
- G10.4 An Operative appealing against such a decision will be invited, in writing, to an Appeal Hearing to be held at a mutually convenient time but no later than ten days from the receipt of the appeal request. (See Appendix G5).
- G10.5 A written decision following an appeal should be issued within five working days and should specify the reasons for the decision (see Appendix G6).

G11. Revision to this Guidance

- G11.1 The SJIB, that is the employers and the Union, will periodically review this guidance in the light of developments in employment legislation, or industrial relations practice and, if necessary, revise it in order to ensure its continuing relevance and effectiveness, and, in the event of any such changes, make appropriate arrangements to publicise them to its members. Alterations to this guidance will be made by the SJIB.

Appendix G1

GROSS MISCONDUCT

Actions leading to dismissal without notice, for a first offence, will be serious breaches of conduct, negligence or breaches of the National Working Rules and include, but are not limited to the following:

- (a) Violent or threatening behaviour including wilful damage to employer's or client's property.
- (b) Fraud or theft.
- (c) Incapacity due to alcohol and/or drugs.

NB. Guidance Note

Any appeals against verbal and formal written warnings are exercised solely by means of an employer's disciplinary procedure and the procedure ends at this stage, there being no further right of appeal.

In respect of dismissal appeals only and following exhaustion of an employer's disciplinary procedure, an employee has the right to invoke the National Disputes Committee appeals procedure using the provisions of the SJIB Procedure for Handling and Resolving Disciplinary and Redundancy Dismissal Appeals, (see Appendix G7).

Appendix G7

THE SJIB PROCEDURE FOR HANDLING AND RESOLVING DISCIPLINARY AND REDUNDANCY DISMISSAL APPEALS

1.0 Domestic Appeals

(a) Disciplinary dismissals (excluding probationary period)

Where an employee is either dismissed on notice for misconduct or dismissed summarily without notice for gross misconduct, their right of appeal against such dismissal shall be determined as follows:

(i) Domestic appeal

The employer's disciplinary procedure must make provision for a domestic appeal meeting to be made available to the dismissed Operative. Minutes of the proceedings and the outcome of the appeal meeting are to be confirmed in writing by the employer and sent to the Operative. If the domestic appeal meeting fails to resolve matters to the satisfaction of the employee, then the Operative may refer it to the Union Regional Officer and request a Stage 2 meeting.

(ii) Disciplinary dismissals during the probationary period

During a probationary period, any appeal against dismissal must be made using the relevant appeal provisions included in the employer's disciplinary procedure (see paragraph G9.4).

(iii) Disciplinary action short of dismissal

Any appeal against disciplinary action, short of dismissal (i.e. disciplinary transfer, disciplinary suspension and/or warning) must be made using the relevant appeal provisions included in the employer's disciplinary procedure.

(b) Redundancy dismissals

Where an Operative wishes to challenge their selection for redundancy, the employer must make arrangements to hold a domestic appeals meeting. Minutes of the proceedings and the outcome of the appeal meeting shall be confirmed in writing by the employer and sent to the employee. If this appeal meeting fails to resolve matters to the satisfaction of the Operative, the issue may be referred to the Union Regional Officer, for consideration of a Stage 2 meeting.

2.0 Stage 2 Meeting

If the domestic appeal meeting in respect of either disciplinary or redundancy dismissal fails to resolve matters, the Operative may refer to the Union Regional Officer and request that a Stage 2 meeting be arranged. The minutes of the relevant domestic appeal meeting shall be made available at this meeting, which shall normally take place within ten working days from the employer receiving such a request from the Union Regional Officer, or as otherwise mutually agreed.

Minutes of the proceedings and the outcome of the Stage 2 meeting shall be set down by the employer and agreed by the parties. This is an essential part of the process; the minutes of the Stage 2 proceedings and those from the relevant domestic appeal meeting are central to discussions in any further stages of the procedure.

If a resolution is not reached at Stage 2, the Union Regional Officer, on behalf of and at the request of the Operative, may pursue an appeal through the National Dispute Committee.

3.0 National Dispute Committee

(a) Application to the National Dispute Committee

The Regional Officer of the Union will inform the employer, within five working days of the failure to agree at Stage 2, if it is their intention either to apply to the National Dispute Committee for an appeal hearing or to withdraw the claim. If the Regional Officer decides to proceed, an application shall be made to the Secretary to the SJIB for the matter to be heard by the National Dispute Committee.

Annex G7 to this Agreement sets out, in full, the directions, timescales and guidance on the documentation required in respect of an application to the National Dispute Committee. The order of business of the hearing is also set out.

(b) Composition of the National Dispute Committee

The National Dispute Committee will consist of the SJIB Chair, the Secretary of the SJIB, the lead Union representative and the lead employer representative. The Secretary of the SJIB shall not have a vote.

(c) Committee's Decisions

Decisions of the National Dispute Committee, which must be unanimous, are final and binding and will fall within the following categories:

- (i) Confirmation of dismissal; or
- (ii) Re-employment on a specified date, without continuity of employment; or
- (iii) Re-instatement with continuity of employment and without loss of pay; or
- (iv) In conjunction with either (ii) or (iii) above, and if appropriate, a written warning.

It is not within the jurisdiction of the National Dispute Committee to award a financial settlement other than as part of (iii) above.

An agreed statement of the decision shall be provided within five working days for circulation to the parties.

Further practice directions on the submission of a reference in respect of an appeal against dismissal and the conduct of hearings are set out in Annex G7.

If, in the opinion of the National Dispute Committee, the matter at issue has implications for the industry in general, it may decide to refer the matter directly to the National Board and to recommend arrangements which should prevail in the interim.

It is recognised that an eligible employee may decide to submit an Employment Tribunal claim in relation to the same matter. If so, the Operative should submit this, within three months of the event, but accompanied by a request to the Employment Tribunal that the claim be stayed, i.e. held in abeyance, until the decision of the National Dispute Committee is known.

4.0 Mediation

It may be appropriate to invite the Secretary of the SJIB to provide mediation at any stage of the procedure.

Annex G7

Appendix G8

THE SJIB PROCEDURE FOR HANDLING AND RESOLVING INDIVIDUAL AND COLLECTIVE GRIEVANCES

1.0 Company Grievance Procedures

- (a) Each company in membership of the SJIB will ensure that it has in place a formal, written grievance procedure. The terms of this procedure shall be consistent with the requirements of Section G of the SJIB Handbook, Resolving Issues at Work.
- (b) Observance of these requirements is deemed to constitute compliance with good practice, as outlined in the ACAS Code of Practice on Disciplinary and Grievance Procedures.

2.0 Normal Working

- (a) There shall be no stoppage of work, or any other industrial action, while any of the domestic or external stages of the procedure are being used.
- (b) The status quo (i.e. whatever conditions, practice or agreement on working and management arrangements, established in accordance with the National Working Rules which applied prior to the dispute) will be maintained until a resolution is achieved through the procedure, or the procedure is exhausted.
- (c) Any unprocedural action by an Operative contrary to the above paragraph shall entitle the employer:
 - (i) To make deductions of pay, benefits, allowances and other contractual payments for the relevant period(s) and;
 - (ii) To take disciplinary action.

3.0 Domestic Resolution (Informal)

- (a) It is usually best for all involved if grievances are resolved speedily and informally. Accordingly, the Operative concerned should, normally, in the first instance, bring any issue or complaint to the attention of the foreman or other immediate supervisor.
- (b) In a situation where a collective grievance exists, a designated employee, together with a Union representative, should bring the issue or complaint to the attention of the foreman or other immediate supervisor.
- (c) The employer is normally expected to respond to the Operative within seven working days.

4.0 Summary of the Stages of the Formal Procedure and Appropriate Representation

(a) Stage 1 – Domestic

Individual/Shop Steward or the Union Regional Officer/Employer designated representative

Note: Where a small company does not have a Shop Steward, the Union Regional Officer may be called in. In these circumstances Stages 1 and 2 of this Procedure may be combined.

- (b) Stage 2 – Domestic
Individual/Union Regional Officer/Senior employer representative.
- (c) Stage 3 – Regional Dispute Committee
Union representative/Secretary of the SJIB/Employer representative/Record clerk.
- (d) Stage 4 – National Dispute Committee
 - SJIB Chair.
 - Lead Union representative/Lead employers' representative/Secretary of the SJIB.

5.0 Domestic Resolution (Formal): Stage 1

Following failure to resolve the matter on an informal basis, it may then be referred, using the procedure, to the Shop Steward or the Union Regional Officer for formal consideration with the employer's designated representative. Minutes of the proceedings and the outcome of the meeting shall be set down by the employer and agreed by the parties.

6.0 Stage 2

If a settlement is not achieved at Stage 1, the Operative may refer to the Regional Officer and request a Stage 2 meeting. The Stage 1 minutes shall be made available at the meeting, which shall take place within ten working days of the receipt of notification of the issues by the Union Regional Officer, or as otherwise mutually agreed. Minutes of the proceedings and the outcome of the Stage 2 meeting shall be set down by the employer and agreed by the parties. This is an essential part of the process; the minutes of the Stage 2 proceedings and those from the Stage 1 meeting are central to discussions in any further stages of the procedure.

7.0 Mediation

If settlement is not reached at Stage 2, it may be appropriate at this point for either party to invite the Secretary of the SJIB to provide mediation.

Note: Separate provisions apply in the event of a failure to agree at Stage 2 in relation to disciplinary dismissal and redundancy appeal cases.

8.0 Next Stage of Procedure

If settlement is not reached at Stage 2 or following mediation, and either party wishes to pursue the case further, the next stage of the procedure shall be Stage 3.

Note: Separate provisions apply in the event of a failure to agree at Stage 2 in relation to disciplinary dismissal and redundancy appeal cases.

9.0 Stage 3

Failing settlement at Stage 2, the Secretary of the SJIB, following consultation with the leaders of both Parties, may deem the procedure to be exhausted on matters which are not SJIB related.

THE SJIB PROCEDURE FOR HANDLING AND RESOLVING INDIVIDUAL AND COLLECTIVE GRIEVANCES

Where it is not possible to resolve the matter, either party may pursue the matter further by referring it to a Regional Dispute Committee of the National Board. The Secretary of the SJIB, in consultation with the leaders of the Parties, will appoint an employer representative and a Union representative to serve on the Regional Dispute Committee. A record clerk will also be appointed to minute the proceedings. Neither the employer nor the Union representative shall be directly involved in the dispute. Neither the Secretary of the SJIB nor the record clerk shall have a vote.

Annex G to this Procedure sets out in full the directions, timescales and guidance on the documentation required in respect of an application to the Regional Dispute Committee. The order of business of the hearing is also set out.

In consultation with the record clerk, minutes of the Stage 3 proceedings and the outcome of the meeting shall be set down by the Secretary of the SJIB and agreed by the parties. This is essential, particularly if there is a failure to agree and the matter is to be pursued to Stage 4.

After hearing the presentation of the case together with all relevant evidence, the Regional Dispute Committee shall make a decision, which shall be unanimous, on all matters referred from the preceding stage of the procedure. Where a unanimous decision is reached on the matters at issue, the procedure will be regarded as exhausted. There is no further right of appeal.

The decision will be final and binding on all parties.

An agreed statement of the decision will be prepared on the day for immediate circulation to the parties.

10.0 Stage 4

Failing a unanimous decision at Stage 3, the employer or the Operative may pursue the matter further by referring it for a final hearing and decision at Stage 4, the National Dispute Committee.

Annex G8 to this Procedure sets out, in full, the directions, timescales and guidance on the documentation required in respect of an application to the National Dispute Committee. The order of business of the hearing is also set out.

The National Dispute Committee will consist of the SJIB Chair, the leader of the Union side, the leader of the employer's side and the Secretary of the SJIB. The Secretary of the SJIB will not have a vote.

After hearing the presentation of the case together with all relevant evidence, the National Dispute Committee shall make a decision, which shall be unanimous, on all matters referred from the preceding stage of the procedure.

The decision will be final and binding on both parties and there will be no right of appeal.

An agreed statement of the decision shall be provided within five working days for circulation to the parties.

If, in the opinion of the National Dispute Committee, the matter at issue has implications for the industry in general, it may decide to refer the matter directly to the National Board and to recommend arrangements which should prevail in the interim.

Annex G8

H1. Legislation

- H1.1 The main legislation governing redundancy is:
- (a) The Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992
 - (b) The Collective Redundancies and Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations 1995 (SI 1995/2587)
 - (c) The Employment Rights Act 1996
 - (d) The Collective Redundancies and Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations 1999 (SI 1999/1925)
 - (e) The Collective Redundancies (Amendment) Regulations 2006
 - (f) The Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act (Amendment) Regulations 2013
 - (g) Protection from Redundancy (Pregnancy and Family Leave) Act 2023.
- H1.2 The following information briefly explains the main provisions of the legislation. It is not intended to be a strictly legal interpretation.

H2. Requirement to Notify Government

- H2.1 Employers intending to dismiss as redundant 20 or more employees in one establishment must notify the UK Government's Redundancy Payments Service (RPS) with their proposals within the same minimum periods of notification as set out in Section H7.1 (a) and (b), before any employee is given their notice of termination. An HR1 Form must be completed, with a copy provided to representatives of those under consultation.
- H2.2 SJIB members should also submit written details of their redundancy proposals to the Secretary of the SJIB and the Union.

H3. Redundancy Payments

- H3.1 Redundancy payments are due only to Operatives with at least two years' continuous service with their employer. No redundancy payments are payable if the Operatives leave of their own accord, die or are dismissed for reasons other than redundancy, e.g. inefficiency, unsuitability or for health reasons.
- H3.2 Employers are required to make redundancy payments, which are not taxable up to the current HMRC threshold.

- H3.3 For each complete year of service, up to a maximum of 20, Operatives are entitled to:
- (a) For each full year of service under 22 years of age – half a week’s pay
 - (b) For each full year of service at age 22 but under 41 – one week’s pay
 - (c) For each full year of service at age 41 or over – one and a half weeks’ pay.
- H3.4 The Redundancy Calculation Table – Appendix H1– will assist when calculating the appropriate payment. Reckonable service is calculated by working backwards from the effective date of dismissal. Only complete years (12 calendar months) count.
- H3.5 There is a maximum limit on weekly statutory redundancy payments, which is updated annually. Statutory redundancy payments are capped at 20 years’ service. Current statutory redundancy caps can be found using this link:
www.gov.uk/redundancy-your-rights/redundancy-pay

H4. Definition of a Week’s Pay

- H4.1 A week’s pay is that which the Operative is entitled to under the terms of the contract at the calculation date. This is the date on which the employer gives the operative the minimum notice to which they are legally entitled. If the pay varies (e.g. through piecework), the amount of the week’s pay is averaged over the 52 weeks prior to the calculation date.

H5. Employers with Difficulty Making Redundancy Payments

- H5.1 If an employer has cash-flow problems so serious that making a redundancy payment would damage the business, arrangements can be made by the Redundancy Payments Service (RPS) (www.gov.uk/government/publications/financial-assistance-for-employers-unable-to-pay-statutory-redundancy-payments/financial-assistance-for-employers-unable-to-pay-statutory-redundancy-payments) to pay Operatives directly on behalf of the employer. The employer is expected to repay the debt as soon as possible.

- H5.2 If the employer is insolvent, the redundancy payment will be covered by the RPS and the employees should register as creditors to claim any other monies owed.
- H5.3 Operatives should apply for repayment to the insolvent employer's representative, liquidator or trustee.

H6. The Redundancy Process

- H6.1 Redundancies commonly arise when an employer needs to:
- (a) Close or move all or part of the business
 - (b) Make cost savings due to a lost order or change in customer demand
 - (c) Introduce new technology or reorganise the way the business is run.
- H6.2 In such circumstances, the law requires that, if the number of employees to be made redundant in one establishment is 20 or more, the employer must consult with the Union Regional Officer and/or Elected Shop Stewards.
- H6.3 If an employer proposes to make redundant fewer than 20 employees in one establishment, the employer is legally required to hold meaningful individual consultation with each affected employee but does not need to consult collectively (see Appendix H2 – Redundancy Flowchart).
- H6.4 There are no rules for how long individual consultation should last. But employers should check if they have a policy or agreement in place that does specify rules. There is no need to reach an agreement for consultation to end. Consultation should, however, be meaningful, and employers should be able to show they have genuinely considered any suggestions or points made by each employee, even if they are not accepted.
- H6.5 SELECT has produced separate guidance for employers entitled Handling Small Scale Redundancies, which is aimed particularly at small and medium sized businesses that are considering making fewer than 20 employees redundant.

H7. Consultation

- H7.1 Consultation must begin:
- (a) At least 30 days before the first dismissal takes effect if 20 to 99 employees are to be made redundant at one establishment over a period of 90 days or less.
 - (b) At least 45 days before the first dismissal takes effect if 100 or more employees are to be made redundant at one establishment over a period of 90 days or less.

If the employer is proposing fewer than 20 redundancies, there is no formal timescale for consultation. Please ensure the timescale is reasonable.

- H7.2 Consultation must be fair, that is the employer should meet the Union Regional Officer and/or Elected Shop Stewards while the redundancy proposals are still at an early stage. They should be given enough information on the proposed redundancies, and time to digest it, before making an informed response. At the same time, all employees should be made aware of the company's situation in writing and the possible implications for them (see Appendix H3 – At Risk Letter).

H8. Definition of Establishment

- H8.1 For the purposes of consultation, an establishment is defined as the entity to which the employees who are to be made redundant are assigned to carry out their duties.

H9. Information Disclosure

- H9.1 The information to be disclosed should include:
- (a) The reasons for the proposed redundancies
 - (b) The numbers and descriptions of employees who may be dismissed as redundant
 - (c) The total number of employees of any description employed at the establishment in question
 - (d) The proposed method of selecting the employees who may be dismissed

- (e) The proposed method of carrying out the dismissals, taking into account any agreed procedures, including the period over which the dismissals are to take effect
- (f) The proposed method of calculating redundancy payments to be made to those who are dismissed
- (g) With regard to agency workers, how many there are, where they are working and what type of work they are doing.

H10. Rights of Redress – Protective Awards

- H10.1 If, where the proposals are to dismiss 20 or more employees in one establishment, an employer fails in any way to comply with the requirements to consult about proposed redundancies a complaint may be made to an employment tribunal within the specified time period.
- H10.2 A complaint may be made by either the Union, or any affected operatives who have been, or may be, dismissed.
- H10.3 Where a tribunal finds a complaint well founded it may make a protective award relating to that group of employees. This entitles every employee who is made redundant within the group to be paid one week's pay for each week of the protected period. This period will be up to 90 days, beginning on the date on which the first of the dismissals to which the complaint relates was proposed to take effect, or the date after the award, whichever is earlier.
- H10.4 Where Operatives believe this situation applies to their particular circumstances, they should contact the Union prior to any protective award claim being lodged.

H11. Rights of Redress – Unfair Dismissal

- H11.1 Operatives may also be able to make a complaint of unfair dismissal if they feel they have been unfairly selected for dismissal. For further information, please refer to Section G (Resolving Issues at Work) of the SJIB Handbook – Appendix G7, SJIB Procedure for Handling and Resolving Disciplinary and Redundancy Dismissal Appeals.

- H11.2 Where Operatives believe this situation applies to their particular circumstances, they should contact the Union prior to any unfair dismissal claim being lodged.

H12. Conducting Consultation

- H12.1 Consultation must include ways of:
- (a) Avoiding dismissals
 - (b) Reducing the number of employees to be dismissed
 - (c) Mitigating the effects of dismissals.
- H12.2 Employers should, at all times, be mindful of the SJIB Code of Practice on Temporary Use of Labour – Only Sub-Contractors, which can be found in Section C.

H13. Suitable Alternative Employment in the Company

- H13.1 Where Operatives are likely to be dismissed as redundant, the employer should make every effort to find suitable alternative employment in the company. Operatives should be consulted to discuss any possible vacancies and, where suitable jobs exist, offers of alternative work should be made. It should be noted that where redundant operatives refuse any reasonable offer of suitable alternative employment, they may lose their right to redundancy pay.
- H13.2 Operatives who are pregnant should be prioritised for redeployment due to protective status awarded from the time of notification to 18 months after birth/ placement of a child.

- H13.3 When redundant Operatives take up alternative employment, they are entitled to a statutory four-week trial period in the new job. Where the new role necessitates training, this period may be extended by written agreement between both parties. The agreement must specify the date on which the trial or the extended training period is to end and the terms and conditions that apply thereafter. Should either the employer or Operative terminate employment during the trial or extended training period, the Operative will still be treated as redundant and the right to redundancy pay will be preserved. If the Operative works beyond the specified date of the four-week or the extended training period, any redundancy entitlement will be lost because the Operative will be deemed to have accepted the new employment.

H14. Time Off to Look for New Work or Training

- H14.1 Operatives who are under notice of redundancy and have been continuously employed for at least two years qualify for a statutory entitlement to a reasonable amount of paid time off to look for another job or to arrange training.
- H14.2 Employers are required to pay up to 40% of a week's pay during the entire notice period regardless of the amount of time off allowed. For example, Operatives who are contracted to work five days per week and who take four days off during their entire notice period would be entitled to be paid for two of these days. Operatives who contractually work fewer than five days per week should receive up to 40% of a week's pay.
- H14.3 Operatives are also entitled to reasonable unpaid time off.

H15. Individual Consultation

- H15.1 Employers need to be flexible about how they arrange individual consultation. Some companies wait until collective consultation has ended before consulting individual Operatives who may be at risk of redundancy. However, there may be situations when it is appropriate to run collective and individual consultation concurrently.

- H15.2 For example, different groups of Operatives might be made redundant at different times. In this case, collective consultation might be taking place for one group at the same time as individual consultation is ongoing for another group.
- H15.3 Individuals likely to be at risk of being made redundant should be informed as soon as possible after the decision to make redundancies has been reached. The employer should write to all Operatives likely to be involved, notifying them of the reason for the redundancy and inviting them to a meeting to discuss matters further (see Appendix H4 – Letter Inviting an Operative to an Individual Consultation Meeting).

H16. Identifying the Redundancy Selection Pool

- H16.1 Before selecting Operatives for dismissal on the grounds of redundancy, an employer must consider from which pool of operatives the redundancy selection should be made. Otherwise, the dismissals are likely to be unfair.
- H16.2 When defining the pool, employers should consider the day-to-day activities of their Operatives and their contractual terms, which particular type of work is disappearing and which of the Operatives do this particular work. Care should be taken where Operatives are multi-skilled and do different types of work.

H17. Selection Criteria

- H17.1 Once the selection pool has been determined, the employer will develop and apply the appropriate selection criteria to decide which Operatives will be provisionally selected for redundancy. Employers are required to consult with the Union to agree on suitable selection criteria.

- H17.2 Employers should be able to demonstrate that the selection criteria are objective, justifiable and not based on the subjective opinion of the individuals applying the criteria. As far as possible the criteria should be measurable and evidenced by documentary records, data or other evidence, for example attendance records. Examples of selection criteria may include, but will not be limited to:
- (a) Attendance
 - (b) Timekeeping
 - (c) Conduct/disciplinary record
 - (d) Relevant skills/qualifications
 - (e) Demonstrable experience and training
 - (f) Measurable quality of work.
- H17.3 Length of service can be used as a criterion where this can be legally justified and may be used, for example, to differentiate between two individuals who have been awarded the same score as a result of a range of objective selection criteria being applied.
- H17.4 An employer must not select Operatives for redundancy based on any of the following reasons:
- (a) Pregnancy: including all reasons relating to maternity
 - (b) Family: including parental leave, paternity leave (birth and adoption), adoption leave or time off for dependants
 - (c) Acting as an employee representative
 - (d) Acting as a trade union representative
 - (e) Joining or not joining a trade union
 - (f) Being on a part-time or fixed-term contract
 - (g) Age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation
 - (h) Pay and working hours (for example refusing to give up rest breaks or asserting one's right to the National Minimum Wage or statutory holiday entitlement).

H18. Application of Selection Criteria

- H18.1 Operatives will be scored by the application of factual documented evidence against the selection criteria. An employer may decide that it is appropriate to interview Operatives as part of the selection process and, if so, will give clear guidance on how the selection will be made and who will be involved in the selection process.

H19. Operative Selection

- H19.1 Once the employer has scored Operatives within the selection pool, a selection list for redundancy will be made. All Operatives will be provided with a copy of their completed Selection Matrix, showing how they scored against each criterion and their overall score.
- H19.2 Operatives will be invited to attend individual consultation meetings to discuss their score to ensure they understand, and are satisfied, that their score is correct. Operatives will be permitted to be accompanied at the meeting by an elected representative, fellow worker, or a Union representative.
- H19.3 Where an Operative believes their score to be wrong, the meeting should normally be adjourned for a short period in order to allow evidence to be considered. If necessary, the score should be amended to reflect any agreed changes.
- H19.4 Following the conclusion of this individual consultation meeting, the employer will confirm the decision in writing. If the decision is to dismiss by reason of redundancy, the letter should also advise the Operative of the right to appeal and will contain a written statement detailing the redundancy payment as appropriate (see Appendix H5 – Letter Confirming Redundancy).

H20. Redundancy Notice

- H20.1 Redundancy notices must not be issued until collective and individual consultations have been completed. The dismissal itself cannot take effect until the minimum period has expired and individual notice periods have been observed. The employer must give at least the minimum statutory notice period, which is:
- (a) One week's notice if the employer has employed the Operative continuously for one month or more but less than two years.
 - (b) One week's notice for each year employed if the employer has employed the Operative continuously for two years or more, up to a maximum of 12 weeks.
- H20.2 The date on which a dismissal takes effect is the date on which notice expires, not the date on which it is given.

- H20.3 Employment can be terminated before the end of the notice period when an operative has agreed to take a payment in lieu of notice.
- H20.4 An employer is bound by law to provide a written statement to Operatives setting out the way in which their redundancy pay has been calculated.
- H20.5 Employees will continue to accrue holiday entitlement during notice, and until the termination date.

H21. Appeal

- H21.1 Any Operatives who have been selected for redundancy and are dissatisfied with the way in which their employer has applied the selection criteria, or who believe that they have been unfairly disadvantaged, can appeal against his selection for redundancy through the SJIB Procedure for Handling and Resolving Disciplinary and Redundancy Dismissal Appeals (refer to the SJIB Handbook, Section G, Appendix G7).

'AT RISK' LETTER (SAMPLE)

[Address]

[Date]

To all operatives employed at:

(a) _____ Site

(b) _____ Shop

A meeting has taken place on [date] between the company and (a) representatives of the union or (b) company employee representatives regarding a foreseeable decline in the order book affecting the number of operatives required at the above-mentioned (a) Site or (b) Shop in the immediate future.

The company is currently considering a number of alternative measures in order to avoid a reduction in staffing levels and any subsequent compulsory redundancies.

Further meetings will take place with (a) representatives of the union (b) company employee representatives to examine and review this serious situation [delete if not applicable].

It is hoped that compulsory redundancies can be avoided. However, you should consider this letter as an 'at risk of redundancy notification'.

As necessary, operatives will be selected for redundancy on the basis of the [enter the redundancy selection criteria to be applied and include a copy of the Selection Matrix]. You will be told of the score that you achieved following the application of these criteria.

If you are selected for redundancy, you will be sent a letter of confirmation inviting you to a meeting to discuss your dismissal.

The company will endeavour to keep you informed of developments, but in the meantime if you wish to discuss matters further, please contact [enter name].

Yours sincerely,

[For and on behalf of]

Appendix H4

LETTER INVITING AN OPERATIVE TO AN INDIVIDUAL CONSULTATION MEETING (SAMPLE)

[Address]

Dear [Operative's name]

Following the meeting between [enter company and (a) representative of the union or (b) company employee representatives] on [enter date] regarding the current redundancy situation, the workload has decreased to such an extent that we are compelled to consider operatives for redundancy. Specifically, we plan to dismiss [enter details, e.g. the total number of operatives by grade and/or department or location].

As you are likely to be affected by the selection process, I am writing to invite you to a meeting on [date of meeting] at [time of meeting] which is to be held at [place of meeting]. At this meeting we will discuss the selection criteria along with any possible alternatives to redundancy.

Please contact [enter name] to confirm your attendance or, if the date and time are not suitable, to arrange an alternative date for the meeting.

You have the right to be accompanied to this meeting by a fellow worker or Union Representative.

Yours sincerely,

Further to our recent meeting(s) regarding the need to reduce staffing levels which took place on [enter date(s)], I am writing formally to confirm that you have been selected for redundancy and will leave the company's employment on [enter date].

The selection of operatives to be made redundant was based on the company redundancy selection procedure, which has been discussed with you, and the need for the company to retain a balanced labour force.

[Choose one of the following four options]

Unfortunately, you have less than two qualifying years' service with [company] and therefore you are not entitled to statutory redundancy pay.

Or

You are entitled to [enter number] weeks' notice, commencing on [enter date] and ending on [enter leaving date]. While working your notice you are entitled to reasonable time off with pay to pursue your job search. You will be required to show appointment details in order to get approval from your manager for time off.

Or

You are entitled to [enter number] weeks' notice, commencing on [enter date]. We would like you to work during the first [enter number] weeks of this notice and your date of termination of employment will therefore be [enter date]. The balance of your notice will be paid in lieu. While working your notice you are entitled to reasonable time off with pay to pursue your job search. J1. Introduction

J1.1 The Scottish Joint Industry Board's Training Schemes are designed to regulate the entry, conditions of service, training and education of Apprentices and Adult Trainees in the Electrical Contracting Industry in Scotland.

J2. Objectives

J2.1 The main objectives of the Schemes are to:

- (a) Maintain and continually improve the quality and quantity of training;
- (b) Ensure that the current training meets the needs of the industry; and
- (c) Ensure that the training is cost effective.

J2.2 The objectives of the Schemes are achieved by:

- (a) Apprentices and Adult Trainees being employed directly.
- (b) An annual intake of Apprentices and Adult Trainees without arbitrary age restrictions.
- (c) Progress and payment during the course of the Apprentice and Adult Training Schemes based entirely on the achievement of measured practical and educational standards.
- (d) For Apprentices there is a commitment of training to completion of apprenticeship subject to the Apprentice complying with the SJIB National Working Rules. The Apprentice may be employed by more than one employer during the apprenticeship although not at the same time. The reasons for change of employer may be at the request of the Apprentice. However, if the employer decides to arrange a transfer of an Apprentice they must first inform the Secretary of the SJIB in writing (see Section J8).
- (e) Adult Trainees may be employed by more than one employer throughout their training although not at the same time. Adult Trainees cannot be given a guarantee of training to completion of training. However, every effort will be made to find alternative employment for those who by reason of redundancy are unable to continue their training.
- (f) SJIB has delegated the management of its training schemes to the Scottish Electrical Charitable Training Trust (SECTT). SECTT organises the financial assistance for training. In addition, the SECTT Training Officers carry out pre-employment assessments for all applicants and monitor the progress of all Apprentices and Adult Trainees from their first day at college to the completion of their training.

J3. Obligations to the Schemes

- J3.1 Employers will undertake to provide training in accordance with the rules of the SJIB Apprentice and Adult Training Schemes Guide. In addition, they and the Apprentice or Adult Trainee must observe the SJIB rules detailed in the SJIB National Working Rules for the duration of the training.

J4. Entry to the Schemes

- J4.1 All applicants must meet the required entry standards as determined by the SJIB, which will include an approved pre-employment assessment. School leavers who have a good school record and an English, maths, physics or science qualification are best equipped to complete an electrical apprenticeship.
- J4.2 Applicants must meet the SJIB required standards of physical fitness and vision, including proved absence of colour vision deficiency.
- J4.3 The nature of the Electrical Contracting Industry requires that Apprentices and Adult Trainees must be prepared to travel and, when required, stay away from home subject to college attendance.

J5. Registration

- J5.1 All Apprentices and Adult Trainees must be registered with both the SJIB and the Scottish Qualification Authority (SQA) within one month of initial attendance at college. Apprentices and Adult Trainees will be registered as a Modern Apprentice and will be registered on the SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7, which is awarded jointly by the SJIB and the SQA.
- J5.2 On completion of SJIB Registration, copies of the registration document will be sent to both the employer and Apprentice/Adult Trainee.
- J5.3 It shall be the duty of both the employer and the Apprentice/Adult Trainee to keep the SJIB informed of any change in employment or change of address, email and/or phone number.
- J5.4 The SJIB may obtain any information from the appropriate certification body or college in order to assess academic progress.

J6. SJIB Service Fees

- J6.1 An SJIB Service Fee of £100 will be deducted from the SECTT On-site Training Support at the end of Stage 1 for Apprentices who work for non-SJIB/SELECT members.
- J6.2 An SJIB Service Fee of £100 is payable for non-SJIB/SELECT members who register an Adult Trainee on to the SJIB Training Apprenticeship and Adult Training Scheme.

J7. Probation – Apprentices

- J7.1 Apprentices shall serve a probationary period of six months. During this period the Apprentice may terminate the employment subject to proper notice being given or the employer may terminate the Apprentice's employment in accordance with the provisions of Section G – Resolving Issues at Work of the SJIB National Working Rules.

J8. Transfer and Redundancy

- J8.1 Any Apprentice/Adult Trainee has the right to apply to the SJIB for his or her transfer of employer to be considered. The Secretary of the SJIB will ensure that every effort is made by the SJIB, SECTT, SELECT and the Union to find alternative employment for the Apprentice/Adult Trainee concerned.
- J8.2 If the employer decides to arrange a transfer of an Apprentice/Adult Trainee they must first inform the Secretary of the SJIB in writing.
- J8.3 In the event of alternative work within the industry not being available, an employer may have to consider the possibility of redundancy. If this is the case, the employer must forward a Request for Dismissal through Redundancy form (Appendix J3) to the Secretary of the SJIB. An employer can only dismiss an Apprentice as redundant if the dismissal is approved by the Secretary.

J9. Conditions of Employment

- J9.1 All Apprentices and Adult Trainees must be employed on SJIB Particulars of Employment available from www.sjib.org.uk

- J9.2 All Apprentices are employed on fixed-term contracts. Their employment may be terminated on completion of the apprenticeship with no entitlement to redundancy pay.
- J9.3 To ensure compliance with legislation, employers should give Apprentices sufficient advance notice of their fixed-term contract of apprenticeship being terminated (see Section C of the SJIB National Working Rules; Appendix C2, Explanatory Notes).
- J9.4 Where employment is continued after completion of the apprenticeship, the initial date of commencement of employment shall be the date used for calculation of statutory entitlement to redundancy pay and notice of termination of employment.

J10. Wages

- J10.1 The wages paid to Apprentices and Adult Trainees shall be determined by the SJIB and are available from www.sjib.org.uk
- J10.2 First Stage Adult Trainees shall be paid the SJIB Electrical Labourer's rate of pay. Second Stage Adult Trainees shall be paid 85% of the SJIB Electrician's rate of pay. Third Stage Adult Trainees shall be paid 95% of the SJIB Electrician's rate of pay.

J11. Holidays

- J11.1 Apprentices and Adult Trainees shall receive 32 days' holiday entitlement (see Section D of the SJIB National Working Rules).

J12. Welfare Benefits

- J12.1 All Apprentices and Adult Trainees are entitled to Statutory Sick Pay. Apprentices are entitled to additional sick pay of £15.00 per week for an aggregate period of 12 weeks in any consecutive 12 months. This payment is funded by the employer. Apprentices/Adult Trainees employed by SJIB member companies are entitled to Death in Service, Accidental Dismemberment and Permanent & Total Disability Benefits in accordance with the Industry's arrangements, providing the employer regularly purchases welfare credits for their Operatives.

- J12.2 Non-members and members who do not purchase welfare credits must make similar provisions to ensure they comply and offer the benefits listed on the Welfare Benefits table available from www.sjib.org.uk

J13. Travel and Expenses

- J13.1 During training there will be no payment for time spent travelling in connection with attendance at college but travelling fares will be reimbursed. Travelling fares are calculated from the employer's place of business. Apprentices attending college shall be paid the At College rate of pay. Adult Trainees attending college shall be paid the Shop rate.
- J13.2 Apprentices shall be paid the appropriate At Work rate of pay and Adult Trainees shall be paid the Shop or Travel rate and, if applicable, a Mileage Rate or Allowance while working on-site (see Section B18 of the SJIB National Working Rules).

J14. College Attendance

- J14.1 First, Second and Third Stage Apprentices are required to attend colleges of further education and to follow the SJIB-approved SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7 training course. Satisfactory evidence of achievement is required to facilitate progress through the various stages of the apprenticeship.
- J14.2 First, Second and Third Stage Adult Trainees are required to attend colleges of further education and to follow the SJIB-approved SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7 training course. Satisfactory evidence of achievement is required to facilitate progress through the various stages of the Adult Training Scheme.

J15. Additional College Attendance

- J15.1 Any further college attendance in addition to the required attendance in the SJIB Training Schemes shall be at the sole discretion of the employer.

J16. College Registration and Examination Fees

- J16.1 Apprentices shall not be responsible for the payment of college or examination fees.
- J16.2 Fees for Adult Trainees are subject to funding being available.

J17. Completion of Site Evidence

- J17.1 Apprentices and Adult Trainees are required to complete field evidence entries in the SJIB Apprentice/Adult Trainee site evidence ePortfolio to the required standard. Failure to do so will lead to the Apprentice/Adult Trainee not being upgraded from one stage to another or permitted to sit the Final Integrated Competence Assessment (FICA).
- J17.2 Employers, with the assistance of the SJIB-appointed SECTT Training Officers, are obliged to ensure that the site evidence ePortfolio is completed accurately in accordance with the requirements of each stage.

J18. Tool Kits

- J18.1 During the course of the training, Apprentices and Adult Trainees are required to purchase a kit of hand tools as shown in Section B of the SJIB National Working Rules – Appendix B7.

J19. Union Membership

- J19.1 Apprentices and Adult Trainees are encouraged to join the Union and employers are encouraged to join SELECT. These organisations, as constituent members of the SJIB, represent the interests of those working in the Electrical Contracting Industry in Scotland.
- J19.2 Unite the Union being a signatory to the SJIB is recognised as the sole negotiating trade union for Apprentices and Adult Trainees covered by the SJIB National Working Rules.

J20. Discipline

J20.1 Apprentices and Adult Trainees shall be subject to the SJIB Resolving Issues at Work Guidance in the Use of Procedures (see Section G of the SJIB National Working Rules).

J21. Grievances

ELECTRICITY AT WORK REGULATIONS 1989

The Electricity at Work Regulations 1989 came into force on 1st April 1990. The purpose of the regulations is to require precautions to be taken against the risk of death or personal injury from electricity in work activities.

The regulations are made under the Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974 which imposes duties principally on employers, the self employed, and on Operatives including certain classes of trainees.

The regulations impose duties on persons (duty holders) in respect of systems, electrical equipment and conductors, and in respect of work activities on or near electrical equipment. These duties are in addition to those imposed by the Health and Safety at Work Act.

Note:

(a) Reference should be made to the following HSE publications:

- Guidance on the Electricity at Work Regulations 1989 HSR25 (3rd Edition 2015)
- Electricity at work – Safe working practices HSG85 (3rd Edition 2013).
- Safety in electrical testing work INDG354 (rev 1).
- Electrical test equipment for use on low voltage electrical systems GS38 (4th Edition).

Copies of these publications are available to download free of charge from the HSE website: www.hse.gov.uk

(b) With regard to safe isolation procedures reference should be made to the Electrical Safety First Best Practice Guide No. 2 (issue 3) – Guidance on the management of electrical safety and safe isolation procedures for low voltage installations and SELECT's safe isolation leaflet, 'Work Dead Safely'. Copies can be downloaded from the following websites: www.select.org.uk www.electricalsafetyfirst.org.uk

Appendix J6

ISOLATION PROCEDURES FOR SAFE WORKING ON EXTRA-LOW AND LOW VOLTAGES (UP TO 1000 V A.C.)

The chart on page 193 illustrates a Safe Isolation Procedure for persons concerned with work on electrical systems on extra-low and low voltage (as defined in BS 7671).

Isolation is defined as a function intended to make dead for reasons of safety all or a discrete section of the electrical installation by separating the installation or section from every source of electrical energy.

Isolation means the operation of switches, the removal of fuses or links or physical disconnection of conductors in order to make any system or part of a system DEAD and secure so that it cannot be inadvertently made live. This will involve cutting off an electrical installation, a circuit or any equivalent item from every source of electrical energy.

In general remember the following rules:

- Identify the source(s) of supply;
- Isolate;
- Secure isolation;
- Post notices;
- Test that the equipment/system is DEAD; then
- Apply earths where necessary and applicable.
- Begin work.

Reference should be made to the current editions of the *Health and Safety Executive's Guidance Note GS38, Electricity at work – Safe working practices HSG85 and BS 7671 Guidance Note 2 – Isolation & Switching

Appendix J7

ASSESSMENT PROCEDURES FOR SAFE WORKING PRACTICES

The procedure for assessing safe working practices when working with electricity is given in the HSE guidance Electricity at Work – Safe working practices HSG85 and is divided into four stages as follows:

- (a) Deciding whether to work dead or work live.
- (b) Actions which are common to both dead and live working.
- (c) Working dead.
- (d) Working live.

Copies of the Electricity at Work – Safe working practices HSG85 can be downloaded from www.hse.gov.uk

K10.	Training and Qualification Costs	213

K1. The ECS (Grade) Card

- K1.1 Since 1969, the SJIB has administered the Grading system for Electrical Installation Operatives. More recently, the ECS (Grade) Cards were incorporated into the Electrotechnical Certification Scheme (ECS). The SJIB ECS (Grade) Card continues to show the cardholder's Grade.
- K1.2 The purpose of the ECS (Grade) Card is to ensure that Operatives in the construction industry are assessed as technically competent to defined industry standards and have the appropriate training and qualifications for the job they do, thereby helping to improve standards and safety in the industry. Most principal contractors and clients require workers on their sites to hold a valid ECS (Grade) Card.
- K1.3 Health, safety and environmental awareness is an increasingly critical issue within the construction industry. All Operatives must have an up-to-date health, safety and environmental (HS&E) certification in order to be awarded an ECS (Grade) Card. The ECS HS&E assessment is designed to prevent accidents and promote safety and quality of work and ensures all cardholders have site awareness of health and safety to industry acceptable standards.

K2. Guidance on Grading

- K2.1 These notes deal with the grading of Operatives by the SJIB:
- Any Operative or registered Apprentice who satisfies the following criteria may be graded or upgraded.
 - Operatives must fully complete an SJIB application for grading or upgrading along with the appropriate fee and any supporting certificates via the SJIB online portal. The SJIB may request that the application be supported with references from previous employers or clients whom they have worked for over the previous 12 months, depending on the ECS (Grade) Card being applied for.
 - The grading process will be delayed if the Operative submits their application either incompletely or incorrectly. The SJIB will assess each Operative's application and issue the ECS (Grade) Card that has been applied for, so long as the criteria are met and sufficient evidence has been submitted. Confirmation and the ECS (Grade) Card will be sent directly to the Operative.
 - Thereafter, the Operative will be entitled to their appropriate graded rate of pay, without retrospection, having received confirmation from the SJIB of their grade.
 - Operatives wishing to appeal against the grade awarded should write to the SJIB (see Section K4.1)

K3. Change of Address

K3.1 Operatives are required to inform the SJIB in writing of any change of address, always quoting their National Insurance number.

K4. Appeals on Grading

K4.1 The method of appeal by an Operative is set out below in outline and is subject to regulations made by the SJIB.

- (a) Appellants must lodge an appeal in writing detailing their reasons for the appeal. They must quote their National Insurance number and state the name and address of their present employer or, if different, the name and address of the employer with whom they were originally graded.
- (b) The grounds for the appeal must be clearly stated, with supporting documents such as authenticated certificates or evidence of courses, practical experience and years of service in the industry.
- (c) Unjustified, unsupported, vexatious or frivolous appeals will not be entertained. Appeals will be dealt with impartially by the SJIB Grading Committee, comprising an employer representative and a Regional Officer of the Union. The Grading Committee will consider the written evidence, statements by the appellant and supporting or opposing statements. The Grading Committee may question the appellant to establish that the facts presented are completely true and will call for any oral or documentary evidence which they feel is necessary to substantiate the validity of any statement.
- (d) If appropriate, the appellant will be given due notice of the place and time where the appeal will be held and either may be represented by SELECT or the Union, as appropriate, or another nominated representative.
- (e) The appellant may be required to attend in person.
- (f) The decision of the Grading Committee is final and binding and will be communicated in writing to the appellant. The appellant's record will be amended. The Board may or may not award the costs of an appeal to a successful appellant, but not damages, and there will be no retrospection of any increased payments in the case of upgrading or return of wages in the case of downgrading. Any increase in wages consequential upon an appeal shall take place from the commencement of the pay week specified by the Board.

K5. Cases of Fraud

- K5.1 The SJIB reserves the right to remove an Operative's existing card and will accept no further applications for a period of six years in the following situations:
- If an Operative submits forged certificates to the SJIB when applying for their card.
 - If an Operative is found to be in possession of a forged/fraudulent ECS (Grade) Card.
- K5.2 When a case of fraud is identified, a letter will be sent directly to the Operative from the Secretary of the SJIB. The operative will be asked to contact the Secretary regarding the issue and an investigation will be conducted. The Secretary of the SJIB will decide the appropriate level of action and may involve the SJIB National Board in this decision.

APPENDIX L2

CEC Process	241
-------------------	-----

L1. Ensuring Competence is Recognised

- L1.1 The CEC Scheme is primarily for practising Electricians who want to obtain industry-recognised qualifications, enabling them to apply for an Electrician's SJIB ECS (Grade) card. The Scheme enables individuals to have their existing qualifications and experience assessed against the standards set out in the Electrical Installation SVQ at SCQF Level 7. If an application is approved, a CEC Assessor will work with the candidates to identify any gaps in knowledge and training and implement a plan to address the gaps and develop the skills needed. Once qualified, candidates can then apply for an Electrician's SJIB ECS (Grade) Card.
- L1.2 A competent person is not someone who simply has the competence to carry out a particular task safely. In general terms, the definition of a competent person is someone who has the necessary skills, experience and knowledge to perform a specific task in a particular industry or work environment. Electrical installation is a safety critical activity. Therefore, the need to evidence competence is crucial and essential.
- L1.3 Recognising this requirement, the SJIB in conjunction with the industry has developed the Crediting Electrotechnical Competence (CEC) Scheme. This Scheme is for those who:
- Did not complete their full Electrical Installation apprenticeship
 - Completed their apprenticeship outside the UK
 - Have completed an electrical apprenticeship in a similar discipline and are looking to gain recognition due to electrical installation experience gained.
- L1.4 This Scheme is not a training course but allows candidates to provide evidence of their competence. If a candidate is a practising Electrician, they should not have any difficulty in achieving the SVQ in Electrical Installation SCQF Level 7.
- L1.5 The Electrical Installation SVQ enables candidates to demonstrate that their professional skillset meets the requirements in both knowledge and practical skills and that they can:
- Apply health, safety and environmental legislation in the building services engineering sector
 - Establish and maintain relationships in the building services engineering sector
 - Coordinate a work site in the building services engineering sector
 - Install enclosures for the electrical cables, conductors and wiring systems
 - Install and connect electrical cables, conductors, wiring systems and equipment

- Inspect and test electrical systems and equipment
- Commission electrical systems and equipment
- Identify and rectify faults in electrical systems and equipment
- Maintain electrical systems and equipment.

L2. Benefits of the CEC Scheme

- L2.1 The benefits of completing the CEC Scheme are that it:
- (a) Enables candidates to qualify as Installation Electricians
 - (b) Allows candidates to apply for SJIB ECS (Grade) Cards
 - (c) Improves health, safety and environmental awareness
 - (d) Enables candidates to prove to an employer that they are competent
 - (e) Improves candidates' employment prospects.

L3. Eligibility

- L3.1 To be eligible for this Scheme, candidates must:
- Currently be working in the electrical installation sector
 - Have at least three years' experience working in the electrical installation sector post qualification from a similar discipline
 - Hold relevant UK or non-UK electrical installation qualifications.

- L3.2 Candidates must provide evidence that they have successfully completed the following training:
- (a) The ECS Health, Safety & Environmental Assessment or a valid approved equivalent (completed within the last 30 months); and
 - (b) A valid Scottish Building Standards certificate, and
 - (c) A valid and recognised BS 7671 qualification.

Note: All the above must be valid at the time of sitting the Final Integrated Competence Assessment (FICA).

- L3.3 Candidates with qualifications taken outside the UK are required to submit their certificates to Ecctis (formally UK NARIC) for mapping. The resulting Ecctis Industry Skills Statement will then be mapped to the current SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7.

Note: A minimum 75% of the Knowledge Criteria must be mapped to be eligible for the scheme.

L4. Registration

L4.1 Candidates must complete and return the following documents to the Scottish Electrical Charitable Training Trust (SECTT), which administers and manages the CEC process (see Appendix L2) on behalf of the SJIB):

- CEC Application form (shown in Appendix L1):
 - Part One – Eligibility
 - Part Two – Skills Scan
 - Part Three – Candidate Background.
- Copies of all relevant electrical installation certificates
- Payment of £300 to SECTT.

Note: Failure to submit any of the above will result in any application being declined.

L5. Once Accepted

- L5.1 Once the application has been accepted, candidates will progress to 1st Stage Application Approved. SECTT will enrol the candidates onto OneFile (SECTT's online eportfolio tool) and they will be asked to complete the basic knowledge questions.
- L5.2 Once the above has been completed and signed off, candidates will be invited to attend a meeting with a CEC Assessor to discuss any knowledge gaps.
- L5.3 The CEC Assessor will identify what knowledge gaps are to be completed. Once complete, the candidate will progress to 2nd Stage Approved and will receive an SJIB CEC Electrician ECS card.
- L5.4 The CEC Assessor will produce an Individual On-Site Performance Assessment Plan for each unit, which must be completed within 18 months. Once complete, the candidate will progress to 3rd stage FICA-ready.
- L5.5 In order to complete the CEC Scheme and the SVQ Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7, candidates have to undertake the FICA. This cost is borne by the candidate.

L6. Costs

L6.1 CEC candidates have to pay for any courses, course materials and registration fees. This will vary as the amount of training and updating of skills will differ from candidate to candidate. The Initial Application fee is £300 (non-returnable) and the college fee is £1,000 (£250 non-returnable for the first interview). Additional training costs will vary, however will be no more than £300. The current cost of the FICA is £588.

Note: These costs may vary, candidates should check with SECTT for up-to-date fees.

L7. Appeals

L7.1 Candidates who believe that their CEC Application has been unfairly declined may write to the SJIB detailing the reason for their appeal, enclosing any supporting information and a copy of the CEC Application.

L7.2 Appeals should be submitted to generalenquiries@sjib.org.uk and marked for the attention of the Secretary of the SJIB.

L7.3 Appeals will be reviewed by the Secretary of the SJIB and the SJIB will notify appellants of the outcome within two weeks of receipt of the appeal.

SCQF Level 7
Candidate

Candidate name:

Introduction

The CEC Scheme is for candidates who hold existing relevant electrical apprenticeship qualifications to SCQF Level 6/7 and are currently employed and working in the electrical installation field. Both UK and non-UK qualifications can be accepted. The scheme is for when these candidates want to obtain industry-recognised qualifications, allowing them to qualify for SJIB grading. The Scheme enables individuals to have their existing qualifications assessed against the standards set out in the current SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7. If an application is approved, a CEC Assessor will work with the candidate to identify any gaps in competence and training and implement a plan to address the gaps and develop the skills needed.

The CEC Scheme is managed by SECTT on behalf of the Scottish Joint Industry Board (SJIB) for the Electrical Contracting Industry.

Please read this entire document before proceeding, including total costs for scheme which can be found on FAQs p237.

This Scheme (assessment process) is for those who:

- Did not complete their full Electrical Installation apprenticeship
- Completed their apprenticeship outside the UK; the qualifications must be compared by Ecctis (www.ecctis.com)
- Have completed an electrical apprenticeship to SCQF Level 6/7 in a similar discipline and are looking to gain recognition due to electrical installation experience gained.

To be eligible for this Scheme, candidates must:

- Currently be employed and working in the electrical installation field
- Have at least three years of experience working in the electrical installation field, post qualifications from a similar discipline (this must be recent experience)
- Hold relevant UK or non-UK electrical apprenticeship qualifications, which map directly to the Electrical Installation SVQ (minimum 75%).

Part Two – Skills Scan

You should continue to this section if you have determined in Part One that you are eligible and hold the relevant qualifications.

Skill Scan

To be eligible for the CEC Scheme you will need to demonstrate your breadth and depth of knowledge and practical skills, covering all the areas listed in this Skills Scan. Be honest with yourself when completing it – if you cannot confidently tick “Adequate” as a minimum for every statement in terms of both Knowledge and Practical Experience, it’s highly unlikely that you will be able to provide the evidence required to be successful on the CEC Scheme. Once you enrol on the CEC Scheme you will have a maximum 18 months to complete the process. It’s important to ensure before enrolling that you will be able to undertake the range of work required to provide the evidence required for the on-site performance assessments.

SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7: About the Award

Scottish Vocational Qualifications (SVQs) are qualifications that have been developed in partnership with industry and awarding bodies. They are built around an assessment process that measures an individual’s ability to competently perform to industry-set occupational standards. The evidence towards this qualification is predominantly gathered from workplace activity. CEC candidates must provide verifiable evidence across a range of work-based projects that cover the scope and depth needed to meet the requirements set out in the SVQ for Electrical Installation. More information on the award can be found at www.sqa.org.uk/sqa/67776.html

Remember: You’ll only be able to use evidence for the CEC on-site performance assessments that are generated after you enrol on CEC scheme, so you’ll need to be working day-to-day on activities that cover the breadth of what is required. You may have evidence from past work that will confirm you’re a suitable candidate for the CEC Scheme, but you still need to be currently working as an electrician in order to create evidence for the practical units.

Frequently Asked Questions

What do candidates need to do to be eligible to register for the CEC Scheme?

Candidates must be employed and working in the Electrical Contracting Industry and have substantial experience. This experience should enable them to gather evidence in the following areas:

- Apply health, safety and environmental legislation in the building engineering sector
- Establish and maintain relationships in the building services sector
- Coordinate a work site in the building services engineering sector
- Install enclosures for the electrical cables, conductors and wiring systems
- Install and connect electrical cables, conductors, wiring systems and equipment
- Inspect and test electrical systems and equipment
- Commission electrical systems and equipment
- Identify and rectify faults in electrical systems and equipment
- Maintain electrical systems and equipment.

The CEC Scheme has been designed to allow candidates to demonstrate how their professional skillset meets the requirements of the SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7 in both knowledge and practical skills.

How long will it take to complete the CEC Scheme?

Success depends on the candidate's ability to collect evidence that demonstrates to the CEC Assessor that they have the competence and practical experience to meet the standard. The maximum time from CEC enrolment to completion is 18 months.

Which SJIB card are CEC candidates eligible for?

Once the Knowledge Units have been signed off by the CEC Assessor, confirmation will be sent to SECTT. Only at this point will SECTT apply for an SJIB ECS (Grade) Card, which will be valid for 18 months. This allows the candidate to gain the required on-site experience to complete the On-Site ePortfolio assessments which complete the Performance Units of the qualification. The SJIB retains the right to withdraw the Provisional Electrician card should sufficient progress not be made toward CEC Scheme completion. On completion of the SVQ, an SJIB ECS (Grade) Card will be issued.

How much will it cost?

- Initial application: £300;
- College: £1,000 (£250 non-returnable for the first interview) + additional training costs;
- FICA: £588 (this would be payable on application to sit FICA).

Is the CEC Scheme a training course?

The CEC Scheme is not a training course, it is a scheme where existing qualifications are mapped across to the current SVQ. Training may be required to fill knowledge gaps, however this should be kept to a minimum.

What should an individual do if they have been declined for this scheme and disagree with the decision?

Candidates who believe that their CEC Application has been unfairly declined can appeal in writing to the Secretary of the SJIB setting out their case. A copy of the CEC Application should be enclosed.

Registration & Procedure

(See Appendix L2 for a snapshot of the process)

1st Stage Preliminary Approved

Once the application and knowledge questions are approved, candidates will move to 1st Stage Preliminary Approved. The next stage of the process is slightly different for UK and non-UK candidates. For non-UK candidates, the UK ENIC Electrotechnical Skills Statement will advise the CEC Assessor of any knowledge gaps. For UK candidates, they will be asked to collate the unit descriptors of the qualifications they hold and compare against the current SVQ in Electrical Installation at SCQF Level 7.

Both UK and non-UK candidates will be asked to contact a CEC Assessor to arrange an initial interview to review their knowledge, qualifications and experience. During this interview, the CEC Assessor will aim to:

- Review the existing qualifications to see if any can count towards prior achievement of any of the SVQ Knowledge Units (for non-UK qualifications, the UK ENIC will outline gaps)
- Identify and produce an assessment plan which will address any knowledge gaps (there may be additional teaching/assessing costs); gaps should be no more than 25% of the knowledge criteria
- Review the existing qualifications to see if any can count towards prior achievement of any of the SVQ Knowledge Units (for non-UK Quals, the UK ENIC will outline gaps)
- Identify and produce an assessment plan which will address any knowledge gaps (there may be additional teaching/assessing costs); gaps should be no more than 25% of the knowledge criteria.

Should the CEC Assessor have any concerns about the candidate's ability to meet CEC scheme requirements, these concerns may be referred to the SECTT Training and Development Manager for further discussion and the candidate may be declined.

Once the CEC Assessor confirms the candidate has attained all Knowledge Units, the candidate will be issued a Scottish Joint Industry Board (SJIB) CEC Electrician ECS card, which will be valid for 18 months and move to the 2nd Stage approved.

2nd Stage Approved

The CEC Assessor will produce an Individual On-Site Performance Assessment Plan for the candidate to complete in a maximum of 18 months. These must be signed by an employer to authenticate.

Once On-Site Performance Assessment Plan is completed the CEC Assessor must sign off each unit and send the result to SECTT for processing. Candidates will then move to the 3rd Stage FICA (Final Integrated Competence Assessment) Ready.

3rd Stage FICA Ready

Before a candidate can apply for FICA (www.sjib.org.uk/assessments-of-competence/about-fica) the CEC Scheme requires that he/she must hold a valid BS 7671 and Scottish Building Standards qualification before applying to sit the FICA.

Valid BS 7671 (for the purposes of this scheme, valid is defined as completed within the last five years) includes:

- SQA [SELECT] Customised Award in Requirements for Electrical Installations to BS 7671;
- City and Guilds IET Wiring Regulations – Full Course;
- EAL Level 3 Award in Requirements for Electrical Installations BS 7671 (601/5321/0);
- LCL Level 3 Award in the Requirements for Electrical Installations BS 7671 (completed within the last five years);

The full list of suitable BS 7671 qualifications can be seen on the SJIB website.

and

Current (within the last three years) Scottish Building Standards Certificate.

On successful completion of the FICA, an SVQ in Electrical Installations at SCQF Level 7 will be awarded. Candidates will then be eligible to apply for the SJIB ECS Installation Electrician (Grade) Card.

Appendix L2

- Identify and produce an assessment plan which will address any knowledge gaps (there may be additional teaching/assessing costs); gaps should be no more than 25% of the knowledge criteria.

Once your CEC assessor confirms you have attained all Knowledge Units, you will be issued a SJIB CEC Electrician ECS card, which will be valid for 18 months.

The Assessor has the right to decline if the above is not met.

Non-UK Qualifications

The knowledge map will be your Electrotechnical Skills Statement.

M1. Introduction

M1.1 The rules covering the appointment of Shop Stewards and Safety Representatives and their responsibilities are set down in the Rules of the Union. These agreed guidelines are intended to assist in the application of those rules as they apply in the Electrical Contracting Industry in Scotland. It is recognised that, by the nature of the contracting industry with small numbers of Operatives working in a great number of scattered locations and frequently moving from job to job, arrangements for the appointment of Shop Stewards and Senior Shop Stewards cannot be as simple as in an engineering works where all the Operatives work permanently in the same place.

M1.2 Union Rule 18.1 reads:

- (a) At each workplace, the members employed at that workplace shall elect from amongst themselves, at least every three years, one or more of the following representatives:
 - (i) 18.1.1 Shop Stewards/Workplace Representatives
 - (ii) 18.1.2 Safety Representatives
 - (iii) 18.1.3 Learning Representatives
 - (iv) 18.1.4 Equality Representatives
 - (v) 18.1.5 Environment Representatives.

The election shall take place between 1 January and 31 March in each third year and elected candidates shall take office for three years.

Note: The three-year period referred to within this guidance should be aligned where possible to the three-year electoral period timetable as set out within the Union's Constitutional Structures.

M1.3 Where an election takes place during a current three-year electoral period, the elected Shop Steward/Workplace Representative etc, will normally remain in position until the next electoral period commences.

M2. Appointment of Senior Shop Stewards

M2.1 In establishments where there are Shop Stewards in several departments, a Senior Shop Steward may be appointed.

M2.2 An establishment where there are Shop Stewards in several departments may be defined as a large organisation working on a number of sites (that is to say that the establishment is the firm and the departments are the sites on which it is working). In such organisations, Senior Shop Stewards may be appointed.

M3. Qualifications

- M3.1 It is desirable that Operatives appointed as Shop Stewards should have been continuously employed with their present employer as Journeymen for the previous two years but, if this is not possible, that they should have at least two years' experience of working as Journeymen in the Electrical Contracting Industry.
- M3.2 The above guidance does not apply in the case of Apprentices who may wish to become involved in the Unite Young Members structures.
- M3.3 Senior Shop Stewards should preferably have been continuously employed with their present employer for at least three years prior to being appointed. If this is not possible, they should have had at least three years' recent continuous employment in the industry. It is recognised as important that Operatives holding such an appointment should be familiar in some detail with the operations of the Electrical Contracting Industry and the policies and procedures of their own organisation.
- M3.4 Shop Stewards/Senior Shop Stewards should attend the Union's training courses, which are designed to ensure that they are familiar with:
- (a) Union rules and policies;
 - (b) The National Working Rules;
 - (c) Agreements on wages and employment conditions in the Electrical Contracting Industry in Scotland; and
 - (d) The procedures for dealing with any grievances that may arise among the workforce.

M4. Elections

- M4.1 Union Rule 18.2 reads:
The election of workplace representatives shall, where practicable, have a gender and ethnic balance at least reflecting the proportion of black, Asian and ethnic minority and female members which they represent.

- M4.2 The Union members employed in an organisation may nominate candidates for the position of Senior Shop Steward. The election of the Senior Shop Steward shall be decided by means of a vote in which all are eligible. Union members employed by the organisation shall be entitled to participate. The employer concerned should not be involved in the administrative arrangements for such elections, which should be the responsibility of the Union. Elections for Shop Stewards and Senior Shop Stewards should comply with the current Union Rules for the election of Workplace Representatives, as set out in Rule 18.1 and 18.2

M5. Senior Shop Stewards' Duties and Responsibilities

- M5.1 Senior Shop Stewards should represent to the management the views of the Union members in the organisation as a whole. They should advise Shop Stewards in the firm on the correct procedures to follow. They should take up with the employer matters referred to them that a Shop Steward has been unable to resolve, or matters which affect more than one site or branch.

M6. Procedures and Communication

- M6.1 Senior Shop Stewards should be consulted by their employer with regard to developments in the industry. It is envisaged that they would be informed about developments and negotiations which affect the organisation as a whole or the industry in general.
- M6.2 It is not envisaged that Senior Shop Stewards would be involved in handling individual grievances or dealing with matters of local interest appropriately dealt with at site level. This might, however, be necessary in such cases as small sites where there is not already an elected Steward.
- M6.3 In the event that a matter is sufficiently serious to require the arrangement of a Regional Disputes Committee (i.e. Stage 3 of the Procedure for Handling and Resolving Individual and Collective Grievances – Section G, Appendix G8), the Senior Shop Steward must be advised. If it were agreed by all the parties concerned that a matter of principle or company or industry policy were involved, it might be appropriate for the Senior Shop Steward to be invited to attend such a meeting.

- M6.4 Because of the widespread nature of the industry, employers will provide reasonable facilities for Senior Shop Stewards to contact site/branch Stewards in writing or by telephone as required, for them to carry out their function of representing the interests of all the Union members in the organisation. It is recognised that for Senior Shop Stewards to visit individual sites or for meetings of site Stewards to be arranged is not always practical in the Electrical Contracting Industry. However, in circumstances where a matter affecting the majority of the Operatives in the organisation is at issue, employers may give permission to a Senior Shop Steward to visit particular or selected sites. Arrangements for such a visit will only be made on receipt of a written request from a Regional Officer of the Union.
- M6.5 It is preferable that an Operative appointed as a Senior Shop Steward should be employed from the employer's head office, main shop or branch in Scotland and, as far as is reasonably practicable, shall be employed on jobs near to that main centre to facilitate contact between the Senior Shop Steward and the management of the organisation.
- M6.6 Senior Shop Stewards are understood to be entitled to instruct Shop Stewards on the action to be taken in any given situation, within the confines of the Union Rules, and whilst observing the practices and procedures of the SJIB National Working Rules.
- M6.7 The procedures to be followed by Shop Stewards and Senior Shop Stewards are contained in the Union Rules, the Rules of the SJIB and any arrangements agreed with the employers which supplement the application of those rules.
- M6.8 It should be noted that neither the Union, nor the SJIB, shall condone any local arrangements which contradict the Union Rulebook or SJIB National Working Rules. In exceptional circumstances, whereby the Union Rulebook is at variance with the National Working Rules, any proposed local arrangement should be referred to the SJIB National Board for ratification prior to introduction.

M7. Training

- M7.1 It is recognised that, under Section 168 of the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992, the Union may specify the training arrangements, with paid time off work, relevant to a union official's particular duties, which themselves attract paid time off.

Guidelines for Safety Representatives and Safety Committees

N1.	Appointment of Safety Representatives	249
N2.	Safety Representatives' Functions	250
N3.	Qualifications.....	251
N4.	Time Off to Perform Functions	251
N5.	Inspections of the Workplace.....	252
N6.	Safety Committees.....	253
N7.	Failure by Employer to Grant Time to Perform Duties.....	253

N1. Appointment of Safety Representatives

- N1.1 Unite the Union, as the Industry-recognised Trade Union, may appoint Safety Representatives from among the Operatives where an employer employs one or more Operatives. Safety Representatives can also carry a dual role and also function as a Shop Steward. In circumstances whereby an existing Shop Steward also wishes to extend their role to cover Health and Safety matters, the appropriate Unite Safety Representative Credential Form should be completed and the employer notified of the additional function accordingly.
- N1.2 Equally, where an existing Operative who is not a Shop Steward wishes to take on the role of Safety Representative, they should contact the local Unite Office in order to request a Health and Safety Representative Credential Form.
- N1.3 Where Operatives are working on a number of sites at different locations, the employer may agree with the Union to the appointment of Safety Representatives as required in the circumstances.
- N1.4 Alternatively, suitable arrangements may be made for the communication of information on safety matters between Operatives and their Safety Representative(s) and, when necessary, for site visits by the Safety Representative(s).
- N1.5 The appointment of Safety Representatives is the prerogative of the Union and there is no legal entitlement for Operatives in a firm or on a particular site to elect Safety Representatives.
- N1.6 The Union shall notify the appointment of Safety Representatives to the employer concerned in writing. Until such time that written notification has been received by the employer from a Full-Time Officer of the Union, no such appointment shall be valid. Safety Representatives should be appointed wherever possible on a company basis rather than on a site basis, and should ordinarily be appointed for periods of not less than one year.
- N1.7 The objective should be to obtain a measure of stability in the appointments so that representatives gain experience over a number of years as this should be to the benefit of the Operatives they represent and the industry in general.
- N1.8 This means that if a Safety Representative moves from one site to another (with the same employer) they can still continue their functions as a safety representative even if the new site is one which they have not previously represented.

- N1.9 A person shall cease to be a Safety Representative when:
- (a) The Union notifies the employer in writing that the appointment has been terminated; or
 - (b) They cease to be employed at the workplace (if representing employees at more than one workplace, they may continue as safety representative so long as they are employed at any one of those places); or
 - (c) They resign.
- N1.10 Where an employer has been notified in writing by or on behalf of the Union of the names of the persons appointed as Safety Representatives and the group(s) of employees they represent, each Safety Representative shall have the functions set out in N2.1.

Note: There is no legal entitlement for employees in a particular organisation or a particular site to remove a Safety Representative from office, which is the prerogative of the Union. Recognising the problems that can be caused by the movement of labour in the contracting industry, it is agreed that for the purposes of these guidelines the workplace may be interpreted as the organisation in full or in part.

N2. Safety Representatives' Functions

- N2.1 In addition to representing Operatives in consultation with the employer, Safety Representatives shall have the following functions:
- (a) To investigate potential hazards and dangerous occurrences at the workplace and to examine the causes of accidents at the workplace;
 - (b) To investigate complaints by any employee they represent relating to that employee's health, safety or welfare at work;
 - (c) To make representations to the employer on matters arising from (a) and (b) above;
 - (d) To make representations to the employer on general matters affecting the health, safety or welfare at work of their employees at the workplace;
 - (e) To carry out inspections (see N5);
 - (f) To represent the employees they are appointed to represent in consultations at the workplace with inspectors of the Health and Safety Executive and of any other enforcing authority;
 - (g) To receive information from inspectors in accordance with the Health and Safety at Work Act;
 - (h) To attend meetings of Safety Committees where they attend in their capacity as safety representatives in connection with any of the above functions.

- N2.2 Without prejudice to sections 7 and 8 of the Health and Safety at Work Act, none of those functions given to a Safety Representative shall be construed as imposing any duty on them.
- N2.3 If safety matters involve other organisations, the expected procedure will be for the Safety Representative to take the matter up with their employer's Safety Officer or manager with responsibility for safety matters, or the senior company representative on the site who would then take the matter up with the organisation concerned and report back to the Safety Representative.
- N2.4 With reference N2.1 (f) and (g), employers should make every reasonable effort to advise Safety Representatives of visits by Factory Inspectors, even if such visits are unannounced.

N3. Qualifications

- N3.1 A person appointed as a Safety Representative shall either have been employed by their employer throughout the preceding two years or have had at least two years' experience in similar employment.
- N3.2 At least two years' Journeyman experience in the Electrical Contracting Industry is an essential minimum requirement. Safety Representatives shall normally be appointed after successfully completing the industry's training course. Where this is not practicable, it shall be a condition of their appointment that they be prepared to undertake the necessary training.

N4. Time Off to Perform Functions

- N4.1 An employer shall permit a Safety Representative to take such time off with pay during the Operative's working hours as shall be necessary for the purposes of performing their functions and undergoing reasonable training to enable them to carry out their function as a Safety Representative.
- N4.2 The Union and employer representatives will agree a training programme suited to the industry's own requirements, which will be reviewed in the light of experience. For anyone to be confirmed in their appointment as a Safety Representative, it will be essential to have undertaken the agreed training programme. Until training has been satisfactorily completed, appointments shall only be on a provisional basis.

N5. Inspections of the Workplace

- N5.1 Safety Representatives shall be entitled to inspect the workplace if the employer is given reasonable notice in writing and if there has not been an inspection within the previous three months. More frequent inspections may be carried out by agreement with the employer.
- N5.2 Where there has been a substantial change in the conditions of work, or the Health and Safety Executive/Commission has published relevant new information since the last inspection, Safety Representatives, after consultation with the employer, shall be entitled to carry out a further inspection (even if within three months of the previous one).
- N5.3 Where there has been a notifiable accident, disease or dangerous occurrence and it is safe for an inspection to be carried out, Safety Representatives may inspect the workplace for the purpose of determining the cause. They shall, where reasonably practicable, notify the employer of their intention to do so.
- N5.4 In the event of an accident at work that causes an individual to be absent for more than three working days, the employer shall ensure at an early opportunity that the Safety Representative concerned is aware of the circumstances of the accident.
- N5.5 The employer shall provide such facilities and assistance as the Safety Representatives may reasonably require (including facilities for independent investigation by them and private discussion with the Operatives) for the purpose of carrying out an inspection, but the employer shall not be precluded from being present during the inspection.
- N5.6 If they give the employer reasonable notice, Safety Representatives shall be entitled to inspect and take copies of documents relating to safety required to be kept by statutory provisions (except a document relating to the health record of an identifiable individual).
- N5.7 An employer shall make available to Safety Representatives information (relating to health, safety and welfare) necessary to enable them to fulfil their functions.

N6. Safety Committees

- N6.1 An employer is required to establish a Safety Committee if requested in writing so to do by at least two Safety Representatives.
- N6.2 The employer is required to consult the Safety Representatives and Union representatives with regard to the Committee, which is to be established within three months of the request. A notice is to be prominently posted stating the composition of the Committee.
- N6.3 On large sites, if requests are received for the establishment of a Safety Committee, it may be appropriate for such a Committee to be representative, so far as is practicable, of all those employed on the site. If, on a large site, a number of electrical contracting employers have Safety Representatives appointed, there could be from among them one electrical representative appointed to any such Committee. It is unlikely that the establishment of a Safety Committee will be required on a small site where there should be regular communication between the employer and any Safety Representative on matters relating to health and safety. Safety Committees might well be required on a company basis as well as on major sites.

N7. Failure by Employer to Grant Time to Perform Duties

- N7.1 Safety Representatives may apply to an Employment Tribunal if they are not permitted time off or are not paid for such time off to perform their functions or for reasonable training.
- N7.2 Any grievance in relation to the appointment of Safety Representatives, or the performance of their functions, should be taken up through the SJIB Procedure for Handling and Resolving Individual and Collective Grievances; Section G, Appendix G8.
